SUBJECT WOULD TAKE SOME TIME.

To Deal With Fundamental Democratic Principles.

Aldrich's Comment in Midst of Tariff Debate.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The question as to how long a time may be required to "deal with the fundamental principles of the Democratic party" was the subject of brief discussion in the Senate today between Senator Aldrich, the Republican leader, on the one hand, and Senator Culberson, chairman of the Democratic conference, on the other. The tariff bill was receiving a degree of attention which was evidently gratifying to the chairman of the finance committee. Mr. Culberson, having stated his subject, remarked in Senator's bal phrase that he would "not long detain the Senate."

"I fear that it will take some time to deal with such a weighty subject," remarked Mr. Aldrich sotto voce, but with feeling.

The Texas Senator said "I intend to occupy as much time as I wish to".

Mr. Aldrich responded submissively that he had no intention of suggesting otherwise.

All obstacles removed, Mr. Culberson's speech was permitted to proceed. "While there may be found," he said, "a Democrat who is a protectionist or another who is a free trader, yet the Democratic party believes in neither protection nor free trade. It stands for a revenue tariff."

The protective tariff, he said, had undoubtedly contributed to the formation of trusts and had created a favored class, which it had assisted in building up colossal fortunes. With a few more sentences of a similar character the Texas senator concluded. His rival across the aisle was prompt in pressing the bill forward.

There was an air of business about the Senate when it met today. Mr. Aldrich was so fortunate as to bring up the consideration of the tariff schedules without having to submit to the usual tedious roll-call.

The earthenware and glassware schedule was immediately taken up, and several sections which previously had been passed over were disposed of before there was any disturbance of the procedure.

Magnasite brick and chrome brick, on motion of Senator Penrose, were included in the articles given an ad valorem duty of 35 per cent.

The rate on fluor was temporarily fixed at five cents per hundred pounds, with an understanding that it would be subject to further consideration later.

Fluorspa and feldspar were given a duty of $2 a ton instead of $1.50 as provided by the House bill. This amendment was prepared by Senator Bradley and approved by the committee on finance. Upon request of Mr. Rayner the paragraph was then temporarily laid aside, to be taken up later for final action.

The paragraph relating to plaster of gypsum, taxed at 40 cents per ton by the House, was amended by reducing the duty to 20 cents a ton.

The provision levying on mica a duty of five cents per pound and 20 per cent ad valorem, and on manufactured mica 10 cents per pound and 20 per cent ad valorem was adopted, but with the understanding on the part of Mr. Aldrich that it might be further amended later. Mr. Aldrich stated that electrical companies desire mica to be placed on the free list, on the ground that the product is in the hands of a trust. Mr. Gamble and Mr. Gallinger denied this assertion and cited wages of ten cents a day in India as a reason why mica could be imported so cheaply as to shut down the American mines.

The duty on carbons gave rise to an interesting debate. Senator La Follette declared that the estimate of the committee on finance was erroneous. Speaking of the provision fixing a duty of 35 cents per 100 feet on carbons for electric lighting when made entirely from petroleum coke, and of 65 cents per 100 feet when composed chiefly of lampblack or retort carbon, he said it had been claimed that these figures were less than those of the Dingley law, which were 90 cents per 100 carbons. Mr. La Follette declared that while that was true on the face of the statements, yet because under the present law imported carbons are of double length the result was an increase of duty of 45 per cent. The 35-cent rate, he said, applied to a class of carbons never imported.

Looking toward Senator Burton, who sat near him, Mr. La Follette declared that the carbons are now manufactured by a trust located at Cleveland, Ohio. Later Mr. Rayner said he had received a letter making a similar statement, and he wished to know whether or not it was true. Mr. La Follette did not yield the floor and the query went unanswered for the moment.

There was a clash on the order of proceedings, Senator Root being in the chair temporarily. Senator Beveridge had obtained permission to ask a question of the Senator from Wisconsin. After he had asked several questions the chair suggested that he was taking the Senator from Wisconsin from his feet.

"I am not trying to take the Senator from his feet," retorted Mr. Beveridge, with features drawn in resentment. "I asked and obtained permission to interrupt him."

Mr. Root replied that he was "bound to inform the Senator from Indiana that he has made several observations without obtaining the recognition of the chair," adding that "there must be some limit to general conversation permitted."

Taking his seat, Mr. Beveridge said something about such a proceeding being "absurd."

Mr. La Follette proceeded, but in a short time was interrupted by Mr. Rayner, who was called to order by Mr. Beveridge, whereupon a colloquy ensued as to whether the Senator from Maryland had properly asked permission to ask a question.

"It is a pity," deterred Mr. Rayner, "that the Senator from Indiana has not something more important to occupy him. He is wasting most of his time over there any way."

Replying to Mr. La Follette, Mr. Burton said that under the Dingley law the manufacture of carbons at home had reached 70 per cent of the whole number used, but when the appraisers allowed the bringing in of

SITUATION NOW IS MORE VARIED.

No Inconsistency in Attitude of Mohonk Conference.

International Court of Arbitral Justice Greatly Urged.

MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., May 21.—Dean Kirchway of Columbia, chairman of the business committee, in presenting the platform to the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, today, declared that the situation of the nations and of international politics justifies a much more varied position than that taken by last year's conference, especially on limitation of armaments, and that therefore there is no inconsistency in the attitude of the conference. William I. Buchanan of Buffalo and Judge S. E. Baldwin of New Haven seconded the motion for adoption of the platform. The platform was then adopted unanimously and without dissent or criticism. The platform is as follows:

The fifteenth annual Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration, meeting on the tenth anniversary of the opening of the first Hague conference, reviews with profound satisfaction the signal advance of the cause of international justice during the decade, a progress unexampled in any previous period in history. The memorable achievements of this period are at once an inspiration and an imperative call to renewed effort.

We urge upon our government, which has been so conspicuously and so honorably identified with the progressive policies of the Hague, prompt action toward perfecting the important measure there inaugurated and the complete development of the system of arbitration. We especially urge its early initiative in the establishment of the international court of arbitral justice. We further urge the negotiation of a general treaty of arbitration between all nations, and look forward with increasing hope to the day when treaties of arbitration shall provide for the reference to the Hague of all international differences not settled by regular diplomatic negotiation.

The clear logic of the Hague conventions prescribes the limitation and gradual reduction of the machinery of war by the nation's parties to those conventions, corresponding to the development of the instrumentalities of law and justice for the settlement of international differences. The great armaments of the nations, whose intolerable burdens prompted the call to the first Hague conference, have, during the decade, increased so portentiously as to have now become, as recently declared by the British foreign secretary, a satire upon civilization. They fill the world with apprehension and alarm; they create an atmosphere unfavorable to the system of arbitration and their drain upon the resources of the people has become so exhausting as to menace all national treasuries and disastrously check the social reforms and advances which the interests of humanity demand.

It is the opinion of this conference that the time has arrived for carrying into effect the strongly expressed desire of the two peace conferences at The Hague that the governments "examine the possibility of an agreement as to the limitation of armed forces by land and by sea, and of war budgets," and address themselves to the serious study of this pressing question. Accordingly we ask our government to consider whether the peculiar position which it occupies among the nations does not afford it a special opportunity to lead the way toward making these weighty declarations a basis of public and concerted action.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR H. H. ROGERS.

Leaders of Business Districts Pay Last Respects.

Work Suspended in All Standard Oil Offices.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The funeral of Henry H. Rogers, president of the Amalgamated Copper Company and active head of the Standard Oil Company, today brought together many men prominent in the business and financial districts of this city, to honor the memory of the man who had won their admiration, not only for his mental energy, courage, and business ability, but because of likeable qualities as an associate and friend. Although attendance at the services in the Church of the Messiah were limited to intimate business associates and personal friends, these included 50 many of the leaders of the New York business and financial world that their absence from their usual activities had a noticeable effect upon the business of the financial district. Throughout the country where ever the Standard Oil Company had a station or a branch, there was a pause during the hours of the funeral, to mark the passing of the first vice president of the company as one of the men who had helped materially to make it a great organization. Orders had been issued last night that all operations of the company should cease between 10 A. M. and 2 o'clock and these applied to every one of the 67,000 employes, a condition which had not existed in the giant corporation since its formation more than 13 years ago.

John D. Rockefeller could not attend the funeral, as he is in Hot Springs, with Mrs. Rockefeller, whose convalescence from a severe illness would not permit him to leave her. He sent, however, a long telegram to Mrs. Rogers, expressing his grief.

The funeral cortege left the Rogers's home at 2 East Seventy-eighth street at 9:30 a. m., proceeded to the Church of the Messiah, on East Thirty-fourth street where Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer, pastor emeritus, a friend of the dead capitalist, conducted the service, according to the Unitarian forms. During the service a quartet from the Mendelssohn Glee Club sang several selections, including the hymns "Lead Kindly Light;" "Nearer, My God to Thee," and "Abide with Me."

On the list of pallbearers were the names of William Rockefeller, John D. Archbold, H. T. Bedford and James H. Moffett, of the Standard Oil Company; Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), E. H. Harriman, Elbert H. Gary, Melville E. Stone, James M. Beck, John D. Ryan, Charles A. Peabody, George W. Perkins, Dr. R. C. Rice, Raymond Dupuy, General James Jourdan, and Colonel A. G. Payne.

The Lotos Club, of which Mr. Rogers was a member, sent a number of its members to represent it at the service and a special delegation from the Norfolk, Virginia Board of Trade, who were interested with Mr. Rogers in the building of his Virginia Railroad, came to attend the funeral.

Following the services at the Church of the Messiah the body was taken to the Grand Central Station and placed on board a special train which left for Fairhaven, Mass., at 11:15. The funeral observances in the Church of the Messiah were exceedingly simple. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer, venerable pastor emeritus of the congregation, who had known Mr. Rogers for many years.

"It is no time for a sermon," said Dr. Collyer, "only for some words about a dear friend."

Dr. Collyer spoke in a voice breaking with emotion at times as he referred to the numerous incidents which occurred during his long friendship with the dead man.

"I found him one of the truest men I ever met in my life," said the minister. "He was ever quietly and generously charitable, always doing good things through others and avoiding the public knowledge of his biggest acts."

Dr. Collyer referred to Mr. Rogers's many benefactions to his home town, Fairhaven, and spoke feelingly about the splendid church which he had built there to the memory of his mother. "He was a mother's boy," said Dr. Collyer, "and seldom let more than a few weeks slip by without visiting her in Fairhaven. He told me once that the sweetest memory of his life was the remembrance of the light in the window which always welcomed him home to his wife and child when he first went into the oil regions of Pennsylvania."

Dr. Collyer spoke of the dead man's great fondness for children and said the school children in Fairhaven all had loved him.

"How glad I am to say these things about him before you all, many of whom have been his neighbors and business associates," said Dr. Collyer, in concluding his remarks. "The memory of his friendship will grow sweeter as the years pass by and the good things he has done will never be forgotten."

One hundred officers and employes of the Standard Oil Company attended the church services in a body. Among some of the well known men present were: William Rockefeller, Percy Rockefeller, Dallas B. Pratt, Anthony N. Brady, Nathan Straus, George F. Baker, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

FAIRHAVEN, Mass., May 21.—With its public buildings, the gifts of the town's benefactor, draped in black, and with flags displayed at half staff, Fairhaven today awaits sadly the coming of tomorrow, when the funeral services of Henry H. Rogers, this town's most distinguished son, will be held here. On every side can be seen evidence of the town's grief at the death of the financier and on every hand Mr. Rogers's life and deeds are the sole topic of conversation.

Arrangements for the funeral services were practically completed today. Following the funeral at Mr. Rogers's late residence in New York today, the body will be brought here from New York on a special train. It is expected the train will reach here about 8 o'clock tonight. Tomorrow the body

This Morning's News.

WILL ASK FOR A VOTE SOON.

Aldrich Responds to the Demand of Tillman.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Senator Aldrich, smarting under the lash applied by Senator Tillman, declared today that he would soon appeal for a vote on the tariff bill. "I accept," he said, "the criticism of the Senator from South Carolina, because I think it is deserved."

Mr. Tillman's advice came at the close of the day, after the finance committee's triumph on white lead. Before another paragraph could be taken up Mr. Tillman arose and said he wished to make a suggestion to the chairman of the committee on finance.

"We have," he said, "spent the best part of a day in a useless wrangle, resulting in the usual victory of a majority of eight or ten votes for the astute manager in control of the bill. I want to suggest that he might get a good many more votes if he would enforce the rule which forbids a Senator to speak more than twice on the same subject."

"I am not sure," said Mr. Aldrich in reply, "that I do not deserve the suggestion and criticism of the Senator from South Carolina. I have been hoping that much of the discussion here that seemed unnecessary would soon cease."

"But the talk grows deeper every day," retorted Mr. Tillman.

"Not deeper," replied Mr. Aldrich, smiling.

Mr. Aldrich appealed for relevancy in the discussion of the paragraphs of the bill. "I accept," he said, "the criticism of the Senator from South Carolina, because I think it is deserved."

Mr. Tillman, being accused by Mr. Bacon of being the chief offender in speaking many times on the same amendment, protested, and his protest was followed by a statement by Mr. Aldrich that it was his intention at an early day to satisfy the Senator from South Carolina that the tariff bill should be proceeded with "morning, afternoon and night until disposed of."

"We don't want any night sessions," appealed Mr. Tillman, "and I want to say that, while I don't want to call down castigation upon my head, speeches for home consumption are getting too frequent for my comfort."

Mr. Bacon declared that what the Senator needed more than anything else, in his judgment, was "dignity."

The Senate then proceeded to adopt with little discussion several paragraphs of the chemical schedule. The duty on acetate of lead was reduced one eighth of a cent a pound below former committee recommendations.

The committee recommendations for an increase of the duty on bichromate from 1¾ cents per pound over the House's recommendation of one cent a pound was sustained, 40 to 20.

The Senate today distributed its attention among the three items in the tariff bill providing a duty on an extract of chestnut bark used in tanning, known as quebracho, on cottonseed oil and on white lead. On each of these articles the Senate was led by the committee on finance, although the committee was induced to change its original suggestions on [illegible] white lead and [illegible] oil.

[illegible] asked by the committee was originally 2¾ cents per pound, but Mr. Curtis, who is a member of the committee, today submitted a reduction of one-eighth of a cent a pound, bringing the figure down to 2⅝ cents, and Mr. Aldrich accepted the reduction. Even this increase over the House provision excited sharp criticism, especially from Mr. Curtis's colleague, Mr. Bristow, who contended that the duty would prove to be a direct tax on the consumer.

When the vote was taken the committee obtained its usual triumph, the figures standing 41 to 22 in favor of the Curtis amendment. As usual, Senators Beveridge, Bristow, Brown, Burkett, Clapp, Cummins, Dolliver, Gamble, La Follette and Nelson voted with the Democrats. Senator Borah voted with the Republicans.

Probably the most interesting contest of the day was that over the question as to whether there should be any duty on cottonseed oil. Senators Tillman, Bacon and Money made an intense fight against the Senate provision fixing a tariff of three cents a gallon, on the ground that it would injure the sale of cottonseed, and after the controversy had gone on for some time, Mr. Aldrich withdrew the provision.

The Curtis amendment, accepted by the finance committee, fixing a duty of 2¾ cents a pound on white lead, was adopted by the Senate.

Mr. Aldrich appealed for a vote, saying that half of the day had been consumed in a debate on this one question. "I hope," he said, "we will be able to take votes more frequently."

Mr. Clapp declared that repeatedly Senators had sought to know the differences of cost between production in this country and abroad. "And every time," he continued, "that question is asked we were treated to a peroration on the protective tariff."

"I appeal to Senators to allow a vote to be taken on this amendment," said Mr. Aldrich, standing in his place and looking over the chamber appealingly.

Mr. Bristow declared that the lead industry was a trust that "every year exacts $1,000,000 from the American people for which it gives them nothing in return."

A vote was taken and the Curtis amendment fixing the rate on white lead at 2½ cents a pound instead of 2¾, as proposed by the House and 2⅞ as originally recommended by the finance committee, was agreed to.

Officers of Express Company Will Give Right to Shareholders.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Supreme Court Justice Gay today heard argument and reserved decision on the application of John W. Dudley, a shareholder of the United States Express Company, for a peremptory mandamus, allowing the plaintiff to examine the books of the express company. Frederick H. Sanborn, of counsel for Mr. Dudley, said his client owned 100 shares of the company's stock, but had been unable to obtain a proper statement of the company's affairs.

Former Justice O'Brien for the United States Express Company submitted an affidavit of Treasurer Platt, which declared "the officers and directors of the United States Express Company have been and are willing to furnish the shareholders of the association every reasonable opportunity to investigate its affairs." The affidavits declared reports of assets and earnings of the company were on file in the treasurer's annual report containing full information as to the company's affairs were filed with the interstate commission at Washington and with the public service commission at Albany.

HALLS AND CHURCHES ESCAPE.

Aldermanic Committee Stops Investigation With Theatres.

Mr. Derby's Thames Street Widening Position—School Furniture Bids and Junk Licenses.

The Board of Aldermen held its weekly meeting Thursday evening, when bids for the furniture of the Mumford School were opened and various matters considered. Mayor Boyle presided and all the members were present.

The first business was the bids for the Mumford School and as there were a number of bidders present it was decided to open them. There were two bids on piano, from J. H. Barney, Jr., & Co. and W. J. Fitton and four for the furniture—the A. C. Tyrus Company, J. W. Horton & Co., Estate of M. Cottrell and Walsh Bros. There seemed to be no uniformity in the bidding. Apparently it was the intention to bid on everything, but some things were omitted and it seemed evident from the prices than an entirely different view of what was desired was taken by different bidders.

At the suggestion of Mayor Boyle the consideration of the bids was postponed until the city clerk could tabulate them, so that a comparison could be made. Mr. Cottrell suggested that representatives of the goods were there, ready to speak on the subject, but they evidently believed it would be better to talk when the matter came up for consideration. At the suggestion of Mr. Mahoney this was fixed for next Tuesday, when the board will meet to consider the bids and the representatives of the furniture will be present.

The regular pay rolls were approved as follows: Streets and highways, $2,026.38; police, $735.67; fire department, $135.77; city officers, $179.25; public buildings, $11.54; firemen in theatres, $36. On recommendation of the architects, P. F. Conroy was paid $500 on his Mumford School contract.

Two appraisals of damages by dogs were ordered paid, one for seven geese of John Simmons, $25, with expenses of appraisal of $10.30, making $45.30 in all, and one for one cow, one bull and one heifer, of Thomas Duffy, $20, with cost of $9.70, a total of $29.70. The mayor asked how the sum of $20 was arrived at and the city clerk said it was what it cost. Mr. Duffy for veterinary services, which was satisfactory.

A communication was read from the State Board of Agriculture, calling attention to the fact that an appropriation of $1,500 had been made for the extermination of the elm leaf beetle and other pests. The amount is small, but with aid from the towns and cities the state board may do considerable. It can furnish a sprayer, a man who knows how to use it, and the poison for spraying, if the cities and towns will supply necessary auxiliary labor. It was suggested that men in the highway work could do the work necessary and that the expense would not be large. The matter was referred to the city clerk and the street commissioner, to report to the state board the situation here.

Four milk licenses were granted, M. T. Leary was granted a fireworks license, and Joseph P. Badnelly and Ann Brightman were granted eating house licenses.

Barney Walberg applied for a peddler's license. He proposes to have a store, but to go around to drum up trade first. The board thought it was up to him to hire the store first and the application was tabled.

Nicholas Stevens asked for licenses for two wagons to peddle ice cream. Mayor Boyle said the time seemed opportune to say that all such applications for the sale of ice cream and candy ought to be first referred to the Board of Health. Aldermen Mahoney and Cottrell said that was so. Alderman Albro said Mr. Stevens keeps a good place and is not in the hokey pokey class. Mr. Mahoney said he is a good man to start with, as there are no reflections. There should be a rule to call on the Board of Health for a report on all these cases, and a start was made with the Stevens applications.

Samuel Lack was granted a renewal of a peddler's license. Louis Zipperman and Morris David applied for peddlers' licenses and the applications were laid on the table.

Applications were made for exhibition hall licenses by the Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society, the Newport Artillery Company, Builders & Merchants Exchange, Newport Realty Company, Bijou Theatre, Canonchet Lodge, Masonic hall, Newport Casino, J. M. K. Southwick and the Newport Eintracht.

Thereby hung an interesting tale. Mr. Cottrell asked if the committee on halls approved these halls. Mr. Mahoney of the committee acknowledged that the committee on halls had quit work after it had reported on the theatres. He had never intended to go into the matter of halls and churches, but that had been added by amendment of Mr. Cottrell, and he was ready to resign and let Mr. Cottrell continue the investigation of halls and churches.

Mayor Boyle said the proper time to resign was at the start. Mr. Mahoney knew what the resolution as passed called for, and if he did not intend to investigate halls, churches

MAKES HIS APOLOGY.

British Lord Atones for Attack on Countess Granard.

LONDON, May 20.—Lord Ronald-Shay, at a public meeting tonight, made an abject apology for an attack which he made at a recent political meeting upon the Countess of Granard, formerly Miss Beatrice Mills of New York. He had alluded to the countess as a "dumped American heiress, who had been fortunate enough to secure a title." In his address tonight Lord Ronald-Shay said he wished to apologize for what he admitted, on thinking it over, was "a singularly ill-chosen joke."

CHINAMEN DOOMED TO DEATH.

Bay State Highest Court's Decision Means the Electric Chair.

BOSTON, May 20.—A decision by the full bench of the supreme court, rendered late today, overruled the exceptions taken in the case of the five Chinamen convicted of murder last July following the long war in Chinatown in which four members of the On Leong Tung were killed by members of the Hop Sing Tong.

Ten Chinamen were brought to trial for the crimes, one died during the trial, one case was nol prossed and three were granted new trials. The five who filed exceptions to the verdict of murder were Min Sing, Leong Gong, Hom Woon and Joe Guey, who were charged with murder, and Warry Charles, a wealthy merchant, who was charged with being an accessory.

The crimes for which the men were tried marked a bloody fight in which four Chinamen were killed outright and a dozen more injured. The decision of the full bench means the electric chair for the five Chinamen.

MOVEMENT FOR PUBLIC PARKS

What the Playground Association is Trying to Accomplish.

Chicago's Fine System, 17 Covering from 10 to 30 Acres, All Fully Equipped.

[Ray Allen Willey, in St. Nicholas.]

When Jimmy or Tommy whistles in front of the house and says "Come on out and play," it means to many a city boy a game on the sidewalk or the middle of the street, unless a railroad or lumber-yard or some storage lot near by can be entered. Yes, the poor boy and the poor girl who must live huddled in the buildings called tenements may not even have a back yard to play in, much less a front yard; and when the tired mother wants a bit of rest, she must literally turn them into the streets. They must play somewhere and somehow, and so it is that you see the youngster not out of knee breeches and his sister with hair hanging down her back, digging about an ash heap or coal bin in their tag games—perhaps a group of girls going around a telegraph pole or lamp post as they join hands singing in a May pole dance. If they are run over while playing hide-and-seek among the freight cars, or knocked down by the horses or motor car, the parents usually get the blame for allowing the children to "run at large."

Oh, yes, the park may be within a short walk, but what can be done when you reach it? It has patches of greensward, but too often there is the sign, "Keep off the grass." The cool waters of the pond or lake invite you to come in, but "Bathing forbidden" cuts this out of the enjoyment. Only on the paths that may extend amid the grove can one wander. Again the signs say, "Keep to the walks!" No place for even a game of marbles; no place where the girls can sit in a shady nook and tell stories. To play ball, the team that gets up earliest in the morning reaches the ball ground first and claims it by right of "first comers." Even the littlest of the little folks cannot find material for mud pies or a sand pile to mold into figures and images.

It is the plain truth that in our greater cities, especially where millions of dollars have been spent on pleasure grounds, they are often places to look at more than anything else. Some are very beautiful, with their statuary, their fountains, their beds of flowers and foliage, their grassy terraces. Graveled drives and paved walks lead here and there, and benches invite the visitor to stop and rest. But the opportunities to indulge in healthful outdoor sport are only for the few, not for the many; and these supposed recreation centres merely furnish the enjoyment that a pretty picture gives us. This may do for "grown-ups," but Willie and Tommy and Sadie, who have no door-yard and whose only view when they awake in the morning is the gas house or the family "wash" on the back porch, want to romp and run, because it is the craving that is in the blood. That is why the park and the square, attractive as they may be to the older folk, do not keep them from making a playground of the street if they cannot find a better place.

But grown folks have been thinking about all this. Some men and women have decided that ample playgrounds for the young are actual necessities—like water and gas to their cities. It is fortunate indeed that they have so decided, for at last a movement has begun which now extends actually from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans—a movement for play places where they are needed. Some of these people who want the boys and girls of the poor in cities to see more of nature and get more fresh air and sunshine at the public's expense, have formed what is known as the Playground Association of America. Here is the reason it gives for its existence:

"The greatest need of American city life today is some common meeting-ground for the people where coldness may be forgotten and friendships formed. The playground is already the gathering-place for the children, and it is coming to be so more and more for grown-ups. In many cities entertainments and fairs of one kind or another have been held on the playgrounds, and there is an increasing tendency for mothers especially to bring their small children and to visit with each other."

City people in general are beginning to believe this also, for the playground has become so popular that at the present time individuals, societies and communities are expending several million dollars annually for the creation of these resorts. The records of the Playground Association of America show that no less than 185 American communities, ranging from New York and Chicago to towns of a few thousand, have such places for old and young in addition to the parks proper. Within one year the number of towns and cities reporting new playgrounds has increased by as many as 119; for two years ago they numbered but 66. You can find instances of what the public playground has done and what it means to the "masses," all the way from New England, to Los Angeles, in California.

When the boy of the street first entered the playgrounds of Chicago's South Parks, no wonder he opened his mouth as well as his eyes. The three-fourths of a million people who live in the section of Chicago where these parks are laid out look around the horizon and see the black smoke pouring out of the hundreds of chimneys. At night the flame shoots up from the stacks of the steel and iron furnaces. There are days when the sun cannot be seen because of the smoky haze. Row tenements with little dirty windows have housed most of these people. Their homes fronted on narrow streets coated with cinders and dust. Mingled with the rumble of freight cars in the railroad yards are the hum and clatter of the machinery in the mill and factory where the fathers and big brothers earn most of the money that the families exist upon.

Then came the playground pioneers, and the boys and girls thought paradise had indeed opened its gates to them. The changes which have taken place in the spirit of play, for all seem impossible; but seeing is believing, and they are there, as Jimmy and Tommy and Sadie of the slums quickly found out, when welcomed to this splendid treat furnished by the city, without their paying a cent for it. The walks and drives and flower beds and fountains were all there—but what "caught" them was the gymnasium in the open, with its bars, rings, swings and other muscle-stretchers. They could play ball as much as they liked, and for those who knew the game there were tennis courts and—best of all—golf courses! Swimming-pools with hot and cold water or showers were at hand, and you could have a clean towel after a dip or swim for nothing and not have to divide up with some one else. No need to go home hungry. Sandwiches, pies, fruit, and other things, heaped up on the

A TALE OF PIKE'S PEAK.

"The Rule of Three," an Entertaining Story, Written by Alma Martin Estabrook.

"The Rule of Three," by Alma Martin Estabrook, is a delicious little romance. It does not purport to be anything but a love story; there is no "problem" lurking in its pages, and no unpleasant tone or reading to offend the taste.

The setting is in the Colorado mountains, in a bungalow perched on the side of Pike's Peak. It is a man's paradise. Not a sign of anything feminine is allowed; even the cook is Chinese. Gavin Langstreet and his friend Benjaman Cockrun are in sole possession when the story opens. But not for long. No, indeed! Hardly have they been introduced to the reader before the cog train stops at the bungalow and a little lady alights. This interruption is apparently an unwelcome one to Langstreet, as he is much perturbed when he discovers the visitor to be his maiden aunt. Although fond of Aunt Marianna, he is not anxious to meet her just at present. The last time he saw her he promised to marry Bella Kaye, a girl of his aunt's choosing, before she returned from Japan. And now Aunt Marianna has appeared before she is expected, and there is no bride to greet her.

Gavin's dilemma is increased by the fact that his aunt is suddenly taken ill on account of the high altitude and that she keeps asking repeatedly for Bella. As Bella is not there he must find a substitute. Then the fun begins. Before his aunt recovers there are three "Bellas" on the scene. Langstreet finds it as difficult to rid himself of two of the girls as it was to find one in the beginning. If it had not been for the stratagems of David Hessire, grandfather of one of the "Bellas," Langstreet would have made a terrible muddle of the whole affair. However, with a wise old man on his side, the tangle is straightened out, but not until Langstreet has given up all hope of happiness.

The three Bellas are as unlike as possible. The real Bella, who is the last to arrive on the scene, is a sincere, straightforward sort of girl. She is the soul of honor, but so rigid and uncompromising as to make her virtues undesirable. To her there is no middle course. "Honesty is the best policy" is her motto. The first Bella to arrive is Davie Bessire, whose views on honesty are not so strict: "You see I'm out and out early. I lie when it's needed, and I wade when its diplomatic. I don't worship honesty, especially when its undressed—drapery becomes truth as much as it does a slim woman, in my opinion." In spite of her views, and one is glad when things come her way.

The second Bella is a divorcee, with whom Langstreet was once in love. She is what David Bessire calls "a sentimental debauchee." Fortunately her intrigues and designs fall to the ground, and she loses the game.

The illustrations are by George Brelim. Portraits of the three Bellas are set into the cover of the book, making a pleasing decoration.

PERSONALS.

....Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota is expected to enter the Senatorial race to contest for the seat now occupied by Senator Clapp. The term of Mr. Clapp expires March 3, 1911, and his successor will be elected by the legislature sitting in 1910.

....Mme. Melba has received an offer for a series of private concerts in India in the palaces of the great ruling princes, Mme. Melba to name her own terms. No conditions are imposed as to the program or in regard to the assisting artists. The diva will fulfil her engagement on her way from Australia early in the following winter.

....Mrs. John R. McLean of Washington has invited a large number of the younger members of society to a luncheon at Friendship, her country place today, when a delegation of midshipmen will go from Annapolis to present to her a silver loving cup as a recognition of her many courtesies in entertaining them at inaugural times and on other occasions.

....Nord Alexis, the deposed president of Tayti, will soon come to Boston for a visit. At present he is the guest of James Turner, a negro of Peru, Ind., who has spent several months in the West Indies. Turner and Alexis landed in New York last Saturday on their way west, where they will remain for some time before going to Boston, Turner's former home. The latter is wealthy and has invited Hayti's former president to spend the summer in the United States with him.

....The Dean of Westminster's refusal to permit the ashes of George Meredith to be interred in the Abbey appears to be final and he declines to give any reason for his attitude. The newspapers are loud in their reproaches to the dean for his failure to recognize the nation's wish and in the discharge of the sacred duty vested in him as guardian of the national valhalla. The appeal was strongly supported by the Society of Authors, representing all the leading writers, by Premier Asquith, Lord Morley, Rudyard Kipling and James M. Barrie. Mr. Barrie made a personal appeal to the dean, but in vain.

....Mrs. Helen Kelly Gould was Thursday granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Frank J. Gould, her husband, by Justice Gerard in the supreme court. The decision was rendered on the report of Edward G. Whittaker as referee, who decided that the charges made against Gould had been proved. To Mrs. Gould is given the sole custody of the two children of the marriage, Helen Margaret and Dorothy Gould, from December to April, both inclusive, while defendant will have them from May to November, subject to certain modifications. The defendant is held responsible for the education of the two children and also for their medical attendance. No provision is made for alimony for Mrs. Gould.

SISTER'S NEW SPRING HAT.

[Chicago Record Herald.]

Sister's got a new spring hat, one of these wastebasket things;
On the top it's kind of flat, bare of ribbons and of wings;
It comes down around her neck and it hides her ears from sight;
Gee! I don't see why a girl wants to be a screaming fright.

After pa had took one look at her he let out a dismal sigh;
Sister's hat hid half her nose and hung down across one eye;
Pa he stood and gazed a while, then at last he sadly spoke;
There was something in his voice made me think his heart was broke.

"And they made you pay for that?" pa asked in a dismal tone,
As he looked at sister's hat and seemed pained enough to groan;
"Made you pay good money which I have worked blamed hard to get;
All I've got to say is this is the biggest outrage yet!

"Do you s'pose that any beau, while you've got that on," says he,
"Would come in and try to win you away from ma and me?
There's no use, if you must wear such a blamed outlandish thing,
To expect we'll have a chance to get rid of you this spring."

Still, I guess it's hard to make women lose their loveliness;
It don't make much difference, after all, the way they dress;
Every night some fellow comes courtin' sister just the same.
Though she's got a new spring hat that pa calls a sin and shame.

THE POLICE RELIEF FUND.

For several seasons past the Newport Police Relief Fund Association has reported the receipt of subscriptions from summer residents to the fund, quite evidently the result of circular letters appealing for assistance, with the apparent sanction of the head of the police department. Although the Association in recent years has not made public any financial statement, it is not believed that the organization is in need of funds to the extent that it need ask year after year for contributions from summer residents.

Even if there were need of money for the policemen's relief it would much better come from the public purse than from the summer residents, who have too many private requests for financial assistance from the importunate. It is a form of begging which the authorities ought not to allow, and by some may be considered a sort of blackmail. The Newport police are paid for their labors and there is every reason why they should not, in behalf of their relief funds, appeal to the public for assistance. It belittles the officers, putting them on a plane with ordinary beggars or "grafters," and is a practice which should be stopped in the interest of the self-respect of the community. If the police relief association is in need of funds, it should make public its financial condition and make a general appeal for support, but this practice of calling upon the summer residents every year for private contributions should cease. The begging spirit is altogether too prevalent in Newport.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS EXPERIMENT.

In the revolt against the old forms of municipal government which have brought graft and boss rule, and in the search for a city charter under which these evils will be rendered impossible, or at least will be made small and uninfluential, it is natural perhaps that some cities should go to extremes and frame charters which are so broad as to be weak and so complete a change from former governing regulations as to almost revolutionary. Yet it may not be impossible that some of these charters which seem extreme in comparison with former documents and some of these new forms of municipal management will prove not only quite successful in operation but also a genuine solution, at least for some places, of the problem of city government which is just now so seriously vexing the leaders of thought and action in many municipalities in this country.

The city of Colorado Springs has just voted to adopt a new form of government which is about as radical as any yet suggested anywhere in the country, and it is to be put in operation in July. It is suggestive of the unsettled condition of municipal administration in this country at present that this charter, so widely different from that which has been in force, was adopted by a popular vote so nearly unanimous as to amount practically to the expression of a universal desire on the part of the people of that city to try something else, and to make the new government as different from the old as could be done. This is only another evidence of the spirit of revolt against present evils and the desire for better things which is prevalent all over the country and is manifesting itself in the adoption of some unique forms of administration for cities.

This charter for Colorado City combines many of the features of the commission form of government, which seems to appeal most strongly to those who are looking for some new method of administering municipal affairs which shall give the minimum opportunity for graft and boss rule, with some other ideas not embodied in most at least of the new charters. The commission in this case is not only small but each member of the body is made the head of a department of the administration, and for that department is held responsible in all details. This eliminates a number of officials and reduces the salary list quite materially, although of course the members of the commission are to be paid enough to permit them to devote their whole time to the work of ruling the city and looking out for their departments. The removal of parties from elections seems complete, since nothing which would in any way designate a party or a party nominee is permitted in connection with the selection of candidates or their choice by the people.

There is an interesting provision concerning franchises, which places them immediately in the hands of the people and gives to the popular vote the right of granting and regulating public corporations. The city officials have nothing to do in this connection, but the power of initiative and action lies alone with the voters. This is a new departure and its effect will be one of the most interesting developments of the movement for better government in this Western city. Indeed, there is likely to be a great deal of interest all over the country in following the course of events in Colorado Springs after this charter goes into effect, not only because a careful watch is being kept in all directions by those interested in good government in cities for some new development which has proved successful, but especially because this is perhaps the most radical of all changes in municipal management and the most liberal in its concessions to the demand for a more popular government in the cities of the country.

PENSIONS.

Pension disbursements at intervals of ten years have been as follows in round figures, including the cost of the pension office and the agencies: 1867, $21,000,000; 1877, $29,000,000; 1887, $77,000,000; 1897, $144,000,000; 1907, $141,000,000. They are now a little over $160,000,000. Up to two years ago the total pension disbursements on account of the Civil war were $3,289,150,449. Adding the amounts disbursed since, the total is more than three and a half billions. The rates have been increased constantly by succeeding Congresses. Nearly 30 years ago back pensions were voted so that men who had not thought it worth while to ask for pensions until 20 years after the war could secure them for all the preceding years. About 20 years ago pensions were authorized for "disabilities incurred since the war—that is, not incident to military service—and since then pensions have been authorized for old age without other disability.

It can hardly be claimed that the nation has been niggardly toward the old soldiers. Certainly no other nation made even a remote approach to the liberality of our government. It does not appear, therefore, that there is pressing need for pensions by the states, but a pension bill nearly passed the Pennsylvania legislature at its late session and one did pass the New York legislature but has just been vetoed by the governor. The Pennsylvania pensioners are now receiving $13,000,000 and the New York pensioners $11,000,000 a year. It is a rather popular thing to reach out after the "soldier vote" by the appropriation of money and there will be repetitions of the efforts to secure state pensions to supplement national pensions and the soldiers' homes, the cost of maintaining which is not included in the preceding figures of pension disbursements.

ELINOR'S SERVANTS.

Mrs. Elinor Glyn has written a book about us. Her "Three Weeks" was not devoted to us or our affairs, but that was about the length of time she was in this country and it afforded her sufficient material to write a book under the title of "Elizabeth Visits America." We trust Elizabeth did not see so many things which are not nice as she saw in her original "Visits" at various country houses in her native land, but we have apprehensions. If there is anything which isn't nice Elizabeth would be pretty sure to see it and tell about it in a book.

However, the book has come out in America and is about to be brought out in England, and of course advertising means business to her. One of the London papers, the Leader, undertook to help her enterprise by publishing a cable, or a purported cable, from New York about the reception of the book in this country. Many things in this story didn't suit Elinor and she secured her revenge and more advertising by delicious ingenuity. Instantly she "gave" an interview to the London Express, which is introduced by this lovely paragraph: "One of Mrs Glyn's servants reads the Morning Leader. But for this fact the authoress would still be ignorant that that paper is in existence. A maid with a sense of humor, it appears, borrowed the Leader from the fellow servant who reads it and showed it to her mistress and Mrs. Glyn found therein sufficient entertainment for one day at least."

Isn't that an inspiration of genius? Not only does Elinor's knowledge of the Leader come exclusively through a servant, but it comes from a servant not in personal attendance upon her. Even her maid does not read the despised sheet, but some other servant reads it regularly and the maid happened to see it and was amused by its references to her mistress. Thereby Mrs. Glyn came to see the Leader. At one clever stroke she demolishes the Leader and secures a considerable amount of publicity in the Express. Elinor is about as smart as they make them.

Mayor McClellan of New York has declared himself on the Sunday closing law and announces that he will enforce the law and keep all entertainments at Coney Island and other resorts within the limits of the city closed next Sunday. He says: "It is the law that Sunday shall be a day of rest and that the only work done shall be work of necessity and charity. The law is the law and I am here to enforce it. There will be no change in policy." The people of New York are wondering why the mayor, in the last year of his term, has only just discovered that there is such a law.

The Senate leaders have apparently decided that the time has come to call a halt on the tariff discussion and, limit the debate to the specific questions under consideration. It is full time there should be a check to the flow of oratory, which has been mainly for its effect on the Senators' constituencies. It is now proposed to put a stop to the "roaming all over the lot" in which the Senators have indulged, and even with this restriction the debate is likely to be long enough.

President Taft puts his Southern policy tersely in his Charlotte, N. C., speech, saying: "What I do desire, and believe we are on the eve of, is a complete tolerance of opinion, and that there shall grow into respect and power an intelligent fighting opposition party in every state of the Union."

The Shamrock III, the third challenger for the America's cup, which Sir Thomas Lipton sent over from England in 1903, is to be broken up for the lead and nickel steel in the craft. There is approximately 50 tons of lead in the yacht's keel, which ought to make her a good purchase.

Wellesley College has funds available for the erection of a $100,000 gymnasium and an endowment of $100,000, and has accepted Andrew Carnegie's offer of $125,000 for a new library building, provided alumnae and friends raise a like sum.

Congress at its recent session made regular appropriations aggregating $1,044,401,857, and in addition contracts were authorized requiring future appropriations of $26,080,875.

Secretary Meyer proposes to be the head of the navy and run the department as he thinks it ought to be run.

LINCOLN IN THE DARKEST HOURS OF THE WAR.

One of the most vivid pen pictures ever drawn of President Lincoln during the darkest hours of the Civil war appears in Hampton's Magazine. Its author, Margarita Spalding Gerry, writing from authentic records, describes a visit paid the martyr President by Principal Charles E. Hovey of the Normal School, Normal, Ill.

When the doorkeeper had nodded permission Hovey found the President alone in his office in the south front of the White House, she writes. The pigeonholes of the secretary desk were crammed with papers; a mass of letters, from which protruded a corner of a military map with fortifications and line of march marked in red ink, covered the desk. Some manufacturer's circular advertising his firearms had fallen to the floor. Lincoln pushed back the papers, crossed his long legs and turned the revolving office chair until his caller was brought within his line of vision.

"Well, Mr. Hovey," he said, cheerfully, "how are Illinois folks?"

Hovey, from his acquaintance with him in Bloomington, had expected to see the President looking more careworn. Worn he was, but there was a fine glow of courage and buoyancy on his face, of relief even, that showed how the strain of decision over, he faced the future with confidence.

"It's about my part of Illinois, in normal, that I wanted to speak to you, Mr. President."

"Need an appropriation from Congress to carry you through next year?" asked the President, kindly.

"No, no, I have managed to get that together—all from Illinois capital," Mr. Hovey's voice was singularly low and soft when he was indifferent about things. And already his brave fight to found a great school in a frontier country had become of secondary interest. "In fact, I may not be at the school next year. I have come to offer you a normal regiment."

"A normal regiment. I didn't know there were enough men in the place to raise a company."

"There are not. It is my boys." The slow, quiet words from this man of tropical coloring were compelling. But the President was not so calm. This touched him where he was vulnerable:

"No, no, Hovey; not those boys! It is bad enough to have brothers fighting brothers and fathers going to war. Let us not drag in the babies. Who can have influenced them? It is not right. We must put a stop to this war craze. What must be sacrificed, must be—but—not the boys!"

TEN BILLION POSTAGE STAMPS.

[A. L. Lawshee, Third Assistant Postmaster General in the National Magazine.]

The chief revenues of the Postoffice Department are derived from sales of stamps, stamped envelopes, postal cards, etc.

Uncle Sam's postage stamps are manufactured by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington; the stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers are made under departmental supervision, under contract, by a private corporation whose factory is located at Dayton, Ohio, while his postal cards are made under similar conditions at Rumford, Maine. From these points distribution is made to postoffices throughout the country upon requisition of postmasters duly approved by the Department.

Postage-stamped paper issued during the year aggregated $175,974,190.24, an increase of $3,957,713.97 over 1907. The total number of pieces of stamped paper was 9,772,052,664, an increase of 440,140,600; books of stamps, 15,313,310, an increase of 526,510. That the issue of postage stamps will cross the ten-billion mark during the fiscal year 1909 is confidently anticipated.

Woonsocket Gas Company Voluntarily Reduces its Price.

Narragansett's Turbulent Republican Caucus Results in Defeat of the Kane-Caswell Combine.

The Woonsocket Gas Company has voluntarily reduced its rate for gas in Woonsocket to $1.35 per thousand feet gross, less a discount of 10 cents per thousand cubic feet for prompt payment. This is $1.25 per thousand feet net, the price agreed upon by the city and the company for the first two years of a 15-year term, when an agreement was made contingent upon the passage of the merger act. The company's action comes as an agreeable surprise to the consumers, who did not expect a reduction at this time. The failure of the legislature to grant a charter to the Blackstone Valley Gas & Electric Company cancelled the franchise agreement made between the company and the city of Woonsocket last April. The company, however, Manager Thomas Nickerson said, realizes that Woonsocket had nothing to do with the failure of the application for a charter. On the other hand, Mr. Nickerson explained, the company appreciates to the full the loyal support of the city in this matter, and desires to show its appreciation by voluntarily granting a reduction which will place the consumers on the same basis as under the franchise which would have gone into effect upon the passage of the charter bill. The company attaches no conditions to this reduction and obtains no concessions from the city.

In one of the most turbulent Republican caucuses the town of Narragansett has ever seen, which came near ending in a riot, the Kane-Caswell combine met defeat Thursday afternoon and the present council members, with one exception, were refused a re-nomination. Charges that the caucus was packed by Democrats were freely made by the Republican leaders. The lie was passed and men came near coming to blows, being prevented only by the energetic action of the chief of police. That there has been bad blood for some time between the two factions in the Republican party is freely admitted, and for weeks Lewis A. Briggs, who it is said is backed by a majority of the town committee of which he is a member, has been hard at work to encompass the defeat of Messrs. Kane and Caswell, the latter the present representative to the General Assembly from the town. It was the largest Republican caucus ever held in the town, many Democrats being present. Some of the latter, however, took no part in the fight and several condemned their party associates for participating in the contest. While the Kane-Caswell faction was defeated at the caucus, it is asserted with considerable authority that its council ticket will be found on the ballot on election day. A contest may be made or the ticket may be presented on nomination papers.

The refusal of the Rhode Island Company to make the usual contribution to the fund for band concerts at the city parks in Providence has prevented the park commissioners from making contracts with the bands and drawing up the schedule of concerts for this season. The Rhode Island Company in years past has been a contributor to the concert fund in amounts varying from $2,000 last year upward, but this year the company has said decisively that it will not contribute again. Joseph E. C. Farnham, of the park commission, however, declines to take no for a nanswer to the request for the contribution, and declares that he will carry the matter to the high officials of the New Haven road, in the hope that the Rhode Island Company will abandon its stand against the proposition. Supported by the park commissioners and backed by Mayor Fletcher, he declares he will not accept as final the answer of the railway company to the request.

A woman's collar bone was broken and two other women were bruised and shocked at Lincoln Field, on the Brown University campus in Providence Thursday afternoon, when one of the four broken-down old horses entered for the burlesque races at the "County Fair" bolted in sudden flight through the ropes of the enclosure and plunged upon the closely packed spectators. Mrs. Granville R. Budlong, whose son, F. R. Budlong, is a member of the Senior class, college tennis champion and prominent in other athletic events, was the most seriously injured of the three, but it was said by the attending physician that she will recover speedily. The other two women who were caught beneath the body of the horse as it fell were Mrs. Marion G. Ladd and Miss Carrie Stockard, who were standing beside Mrs. Budlong as the steed, frightened by the shouting of the fantastic clowns in the ring, became fractious, threw its student rider and went cavorting over the ropes into the crowd, most of whom were women.

Struck by a base ball bat in the hands of a companion, Arthur Burroughs, the 10-year-old son of Councilman Fred C. Burroughs, was accidentally killed while playing near his home in Central Falls, Thursday evening. The Burroughs boy and several other lads of about his own age were playing in a vacant lot. Earl Payne was at the bat, and as he swung the bat in an attempt to strike the ball it came in contact with the boy, who was running past the spot. The lad received the blow directly over the heart and fell to the ground. Men who were in the vicinity carried him to the home of his parents and physicians were immediately summoned, but the boy was dead, the blow having caused instant death.

Secretary John J. Dunn of the State Board of Agriculture is a staunch Republican, but does not believe prosperity has returned. He believes the panic is still doing business around the state and that he is called upon to assist in relieving it. Secretary Dunn has charge of the hiring of the men engaged in the extermination of the gypsy moth and every day is swamped with application for work by men of all ages and sizes. He is of the opinion that there are more men out of work now than there ever was at any time during the panic. Not only do the applicants appear in person, but they also send letters to the Secretary asking for work, and in those communications explain their good qualities and their special adaptability for doing the gypsy moth work. At present there are several gangs of men doing this work in various sections of the state and a few hundred applications pending. Mr. Dunn says the places are all taken and he does not expect to hire any additional men for the remainder of the season. He reports that much progress is being made in the extermination of the destructive moth.

Two East Providence priests, Rev. Joseph B. Scheuren of the Sacred Heart parish and Rev. Joseph Hughes of St. Brendan's, Riverside, were the recipients of substantial purses Thursday evening at the hands of the parishioners of the churches from which they were recently transferred. Father Scheuren's former parishioners at St. Matthew's Church, Auburn, held a reception and social in honor of their old pastor, at which the presentation of a purse and an oil painting were the features. A delegation from the Church of the Assumption in Elmwood visited Father Hughes at his home in Riverside about the same hour and presented a gold mounted billfold containing $1,036.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS.

[Wall Street Journal.]

No doubt business would be all the better if tariff discussion were hung up for a number of years, but manufacturers are not entitled to demand that the people of the United States shall swallow whole the tariff as it shall please Mr. Aldrich to make it. No doubt there would be some revival of business if the people were willing to do that, but it is they that have the liberty to tax themselves under the Constitution, and not the middleman dealing in hides in Chicago, or the manufacturer of gloves in New York State. The tariff question is up for settlement, and it is worth our while to pay a heavy price to have it settled satisfactorily. If it is rushed through Congress without proper consideration now, it will come up again in a much more acute form in the near future.

TWICE POSTPONED.

Enterpe Quartet Concert at Thames Street Church Finally Given With a Substitute Singer.

The twice postponed concert by the Enterpe Quartet was given Thursday evening before a good sized and enthusiastic audience at the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church. Dr. H. H. Luther was unable to be present on account of illness and his place in the quartet was taken by Mr. Samuel Williams, who although having but recently recovered from an illness proved a satisfactory substitute. The program consisted of four selections—"Marching Song," "Sweet Orandia," "Night Witchery" and "Little Cotton Dolly"—by the quartet, with an encore for each number; a selection by the mandolin orchestra under the direction of Mr. Frank J. McMorrow, readings by Mrs. Anna Smith-Ley, tenor solos by Mr. Williams, "Forever," by Bartlett and "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," an old English melody; and two baritone solos by Mr. James F. Marden, "Absence" by Francis Allitsen and "Tom Brown" by Squire. Mr. Henry S. Hendy was the accompanist for the vocal selections. The concert was under the direction of the Epworth League.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mrs. Harry Macdonald has gone to Woonsocket to visit her aunt.

—Mrs. J. A. Raynor of New York has arrived at the Bluemlinger-King Cottage.

"The Bluejacket," beginning with its next issue, Vol XI, No. 1, will be of increased size.

—Letter Carrier Bliss, who was taken ill at the postoffice a few days ago, returned to duty today.

—C. H. Wrightington has rented for the Society of Friends the house at 21 Farewell street to F. D. Doliver.

—The northeast storm signal is flying and the way the wind blows seems to indicate that it is not flying in vain.

—E. S. Marsh has rented for William H. Langley the upper half of the double house at 23 John street to John F. Johnson, U. S. N.

—Steamboat Inspectors Wilcox and Peller are here today, inspecting steamer Richard Peck. Their assistants are at Jamestown, inspecting steamers Newport and Narragansett.

—The Border City team of Fall River will play at Fort Adams Sunday. This team has played here several seasons and has always put up a good article of ball. Pessler and Donovan will be the battery.

—Mr. Charles H. Kiner, general superintendent of the Adams Express Company, was a visitor here today and was shown about the city by Superintendent Mathews of the local office.

—The waste paper barrels have been placed in Touro Park and the water has been turned on at the public fountains, but the Commodore M. C. Perry statue has not yet received its much needed cleaning.

—Two secret service men have recently been looking about here, but whether it is in connection with the sale of uniforms to civilians, or the disbursement of naval supplies, or something else has not been divulged.

—The employes of the John T. Hoire establishment have organized a base ball team for the coming season. They will play their first game tomorrow afternoon, when they will have for their opponents the employes of George E. Vernon & Co.

—A. O'D. Taylor has sold for Frederick W. Tilton of Cambridge, Mass., to Rose Y. Wood, a triangular strip of land from the rear of his lot on Bliode Island avenue, measuring about 19 feet on the north by about 90 feet on the east and west.

—Clinton E. Cook has sold to Ruth A. Barker a lot bounded north, 50 feet, on Brooks avenue; east, 116 feet, on land of Orin M. Alger; south, 59 feet, by land of J. H. Altman, and west, 114 feet, by land of Carrie B. Lawton, containing 5,774 square feet.

—Miss Alice M. Barker, the deaconess, who was formerly connected with the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church, was pleasantly surprised by her Newport friends, who sent her a box of useful and ornamental furnishings for her room in Providence, where she is at present located.

—Tuesday evening Master Edward O'Brien and a number of friends of the same age celebrated his ninth birthday at his home on Howard street, where the little folks had a jolly time with instrumental and vocal music, games and refreshments. Piano selections were given by Misses Honea and Leddy.

—Chief Manchester was in this morning with two more drunk cases from Tiverton. Both were fined; one paid and one went to jail in default of the necessary $11.20. A conductor on the Island road was assaulted in Tiverton this week and the police have something other than common drunks to look up, and are on the job.

—Newport Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, received a visit Thursday from Supreme Finance Keeper Mrs. Nellie C. V. Heppert of Akron, Ohio, and Miss Mary D. Child of Hartford, Conn., state commander of Connecticut and New York, who were entertained at a special meeting of the local hives at the residence of Mrs. James McLeish on Bowery street.

—Physical Director Caswell is to resume work with the Junior and Junior Middle classes at the Young Men's Christian Association, to prepare for big day, as it is proposed to have an exhibition by the gymnasium classes in connection with the exercises. Miss Brownell will also have an exhibition by her classes of girls, to help the celebration.

—A Gloucester fishing schooner, having unloaded at Long wharf this afternoon, left the harbor. After going outside the Gont Island lighthouse she returned, and in coming down through the upper harbor grounded. It was thought on shore that the craft had grounded on the city sewer outlet. If this is teh case, the sewer may be damaged by the contact.

—Colonel King has received from the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company, executors of the estate of William H. Henderson, the $5,600 which he left to the Newport Artillery Company. The money was sent to President E. A. Brown of the National Exchange Bank, who personally passed it over to Colonel King and received his receipt.

—This is the twenty-first of May, yet floating ice was reported in the harbor, in the vicinity of the Newport Yacht Club, and the worst of it is that the report is correct. It appears that a quantity of soaked ice has been found overboard from some of the fishermen, and this is the floating ice reported. It is not melting very fast under the existing weather conditions.

—Rear Admiral Thomas Camp Thursday evening unanimously voted to accept the invitation of the Grand Army to participate in the Memorial Day functions and that of the Woman's Relief Corps to participate in the collation after the parade. Two recruits from the Training Station were mustered in and two applications from Fort Adams were received. The camp made arrangements for its own memorial exercises, as inaugurated last year, and voted to have a social evening once a month.

—A still alarm was rung in at 9:24 this morning for a fire on the roof of an old shed on the railroad track, between Elm and Poplar streets. It is supposed to have caught from the locomotive, and it would not have hurt the appearance of the landscape to have allowed it to burn down. Of course the firemen responded and put the fire out, so the shed is still there, and about as handsome as it was before the fire.

—The Rogers High School chorus, assisted by local soloists, is preparing to give the cantata of Ruth early in June. On account of the limited number of seats available the concert will be for personal friends, each member of the chorus having two tickets. There are 150 in the chorus and the singers will take considerable space. The fact that the chorus is deemed fitted for giving such a cantata is of itself evidence that there has been a great improvement in the music of the school.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Taft returning from Charlotte, N. C., reached Washington at 10:40 a. m. today and entering one of the executive automobiles was driven through a heavy rain direct to the White House. It had been supposed that the President would be too fatigued to hold a cabinet meeting today, but he was much refreshed by a long night's rest on the train and when he arrived at the executive office gave directions that the cabinet be assembled for its usual Friday morning sitting.

The President found Mrs. Taft much improved in health. Mr. Taft was recently chosen as a trustee of the Hampton Institute at Hampton, Va., and had accepted an invitation to speak there on Sunday afternoon. On account of the bad weather the President decided after reaching the White House it would not be wise to undertake the trip at this time and he telegraphed cancelling the engagement. The President will visit Hampton probably before he leaves Washington for the summer.

Mr. Taft enjoyed the two days at Petersburg and Charlotte in every respect, he declared today. The President was urged to visit the South again and said he would be more than glad to do so.

DEATHS IN APRIL.

The Total, 38, Larger Than the Average for the Month During Four Years.

There were 38 deaths in Newport during April, according to the monthly report of the Board of Health, just published. This is a large number for April, being larger than the average for the month in four year. It is, however, smaller by one than the number in March. Thirty-eight deaths are equivalent to an annual rate, in an estimated population of 25,000, of 18.24 in each 1,000 inhabitants. The month was remarkable for the number of deaths of old persons, there having been 13 over 80 years and under 90 years and eight over 90 years. The oldest was 103 years, five months and 16 days and the average age was 51 years, 8 months and 15 days.

The 38 deaths were from 19 different causes, the largest number being seven each from tubercle of the lungs and senile debility or old age. There were four from heart disease, three from pneumonia, two each from cerebral congestion and hemorrhage and hernias or intestinal obstructions, and one each from purulent and septicemic infections, abdominal tubercle, cancer of the buccal cavity, cancer of the stomach and liver, simple meningitis, epilepsy, acute endocarditis, chronic bronchitis, broncho-pneumonia, affections of the intestines, acute nephritis, congenital debility and an unspecified cause.

Of the 38 decedents 19 were males and 19 females, 35 white and three colored, 16 single, 13 married and 9 widowed.

The complete list of ages and the number of deaths in each class is as follows: Under one month, 1; one month and under one year, 3; one year and under five, 2; five years and under twenty, 3; twenty years and under forty, 4; forty years and under sixty, 4; sixty years and under eighty, 13; over 80 years, 8.

Twenty four of the decedents were born in Newport, 1 in another state and 13 in other countries.

The deaths occurred in the various parts of the city as follows: First ward, 10; Second, 9, Third, 6; Fourth, 6; Fifth, 5; Newport Hospital, 2.

Four bodies were brought to Newport for burial and the interments, including three still births, were in the various cemeteries as follows: Island 11, St. Mary's 5, Common or Old 8, Braman 2, City 1, removed from the city, 18.

The following contagious diseases were reported during the month to the Board of Health: Diphtheria 3, pulmonary tuberculosis 5, scarlet fever 6, total 14.

Blake, state elementary secretary.

The evening session will be opened by devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Mr. Richards, and there will be two addresses, one by Mr. W. B. JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of the News.)

The assistant inspectors of steamboat inspection board for this district were on the island today to inspect steamers Newport and Narragansett.

The prospects of a large cottage season on the island was never better than this year. Besides the large number of rentals reported the Land Title and Trust Company of Philadelphia has rented the south Potter cottage. The north cottage will be occupied by Mrs. Potter. Mr. Taussig has rented the Hawthorne cottage on Shoreby Hill. These rentals insure the filling of all the large cottages at the Dumplings and on Shorby.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Walter Turpin are on the Island today.

Lieutenant Richard Wainwright, Jr., is in town arranging for the opening of the Wainwright cottage on the north shore.

Captain Chandler has commenced the work of launching the large fleet of small boats stored at his boat house for the winter. Beside his own cats Myrtilla and Wahun he has already launched knockabouts Gadawah and Bohemian, and catboat Thetis. Mist and Romp. These with White Cap and Grace already in commission make quite a showing anchored off Shorby Park.

The record tautog of the spring is a 11½ pounder caught yesterday on a hand line off the west shore of Beavertail.

With steamers Beaver Tail, Newport and Narragansett lying at the east ferry undergoing their spring overhauling the water front presents quite a lively appearance.

OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN.

Fire Totally Destroys Two Four-Story Buildings in Lynn.

LYNN, Mass. May 21.—A fire, which is thought to have been of incendiary origin, reduced to a shell early today two four-story wooden buildings on Central avenue, entailing a loss estimated at $50,000. Policeman Arthur Flanagan discovered the fire breaking out from the Barry Stitching School on the top floor of one of the structures, and at the same time saw a man dart out of the building and disappear. The building was occupied on the first and second floors by Mendlow Brothers, photographer's supplies and Joseph H. Shern, jeweler, and on the third by the Essex Printing Company.

As the building was in the heart of the city and was of old construction, a second alarm was rung in immediately upon the arrival of the fire apparatus. The frame structure, however, was an easy prey to the flames and soon the adjoining building, which was equally susceptible, was ignited. This building was occupied by the Salvation Army and G. E. Peach Shoe Repairing Company on the first floor, while the three stories above were used by a number of shoe contracting concerns. Both buildings were owned by John Woodberry of Brookline, secretary of the Metropolitan Park commission.

MAYER—SHOEBOTHAM.

Wedding Witnessed Only By Intimate Friends and Relatives at Presbyterian Church, New York.

In the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, Thursday afternoon Miss Bessie McDonough Shoebotham, daughter of the late Captain William Baker Shoebotham of London, Ont., was married to Mr. John Mayer of Morristown, N. J. The wedding was witnessed only by relatives and intimate friends, and to those outside the family circle the information of Mr. Mayer's marriage will be the first news that an engagement existed.

Miss Shoebotham, who wore a coat costume of mauve cloth, with a hat to match it, entered the church with her brother, Dr. William Shoebotham. Her only attendant was Miss Louise Butler, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Butler. She wore a costume of gray blue cloth, with a hat to correspond. Mr. Walter Wood, of Morristown, acted as Mr. Mayer's best man. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Philemon Stuffis of Morristown, who was assisted by Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin, pastor of the church.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarkson Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Butler Duncan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Butler and the children of the bridegroom. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Mayer will live in Morristown. Mr. Mayer's first wife was a daughter of the late Theodore A. Havemeyer.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. Wilbur C. Wheeler, station agent and postmaster at Bristol Ferry, has resigned the latter position and the office will be discontinued July 1. Mr. Wheeler has conducted the postoffice from its beginning, 20 years ago, in a satisfactory manner and many of its patrons view this close with regret.

The Tiverton Central Baptist Church will hold its annual lawn party July 14.

The Ladies Association of St. Paul's Church met at the guild house Thursday afternoon. About 30 were served with supper by the committee, Mrs. Oliver G. Hicks, Miss Grace Hicks and Mrs. Constant C. Chase.

Mrs. William Alfred Chase's seventy-first birthday was celebrated at the home of her son, Mr. Walter B. Chase, on Bristol Ferry road, rather than at her own home, which is not accessible by trolley. Her sister, Mrs. Phebe Bradford of Newport, 84 years of age, the last of several sisters, and an intimate friend, Mrs. William Burke, also over 70, dined with her and in the afternoon she entertained callers. Among the number were six nieces from Fall River—Mrs. William Jennings, Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. Clark Chase, Mrs. Edward Mott, Mrs. Frederick Chase and Miss Mattie Mott.

Mrs. Frank Cram of Boston arrived for the summer at her cottage on the East shore, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lucy Thompson.

With the beginning of the freight service on the Island road, the conductors have been given orders to discontinue the carrying of parcels and bundles, which had obtained to a considerable extent, to deliver to persons living along the line. The profit to the conductors had been small; in the majority of cases they had not received anything but it had been a great convenience to the people. One man was so enraged on the first day the order went into effect that he struck the conductor, cutting his face and otherwise injuring him.

Rev. William Dixon, formerly a Baptist preacher and now a member of the Society of Friends, with his family has moved into the house recently vacated by Mr. Alonzo E. Borden and Thursday evening entertained the Friends' Society of Portsmouth.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. John Hargraves of Fall River to the marriage of their daughter Sarah Elizabeth, to Mr. Elihu Root Lyman of Detroit, at the Congregational Church June 1. Among those receiving invitations in this town are Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fish.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB SCHEDULE ACCEPTED.

At the third general meeting of the New York Yacht Club for the year, held Thursday evening in New York, little else than routine business was transacted. MOVEMENT FOR PUBLIC PARKS.

luncheables, sold for just what they cost the city, and there was milk or hot coffee to go with them.

Such was the vision that met the gaze of the children on the opening day in the most extensive and best equipped play places to be found in an American city. It is worth while to tell a little more about them, and why they drew many thousands from the streets and alleys that had been "playgrounds" in the past.

Scattered here and there are what Chicago calls play-parks, 17 in number, each covering from 10 to 30 acres, with its field-recreation house, outdoor and indoor gymnasiums for both girls and boys, grounds reserved for small children, also tennis courts, base ball diamonds, skating ponds and toboggan slides. The swimming-and-plunge-baths include 10 that are each from 80 to 150 feet in length and of proportionate width, besides the waters of Lake Michigan. At these places are 50,000 bathing suits, free to all who come; and countless dressing rooms and lockers.

How have the people appreciated it? Let the figures of attendance tell the story: In one year 871,000 visits were made to the indoor gymnasiums, there were 2,279,000 recorded visitors to outdoor recreation—no less than 734,000 in a single month—while there were 1,500,000 admissions to the swimming and shower-baths.

The motto of the play-park promoters is "all or none." If you are going to provide such a centre have it big enough so that all can amuse themselves at something—even the toddlers who will kick around all day in the sand pile and never whimper. Of course, mother and grandmother are not going to play basket-ball, or any such strenuous games, but they can "play" in talking with each other, in meeting in the recreation houses, where they can bring their sewing and crocheting, while looking after the babies. They can "play" amid the books and magazines provided for them. They can "play" while listening to lectures and concerts, too. That's the idea!—"something for every one." Even in far-away Los Angeles, the city has gone down into the public purse and has provided play parks—but the city thinks it is worth while. The people have these places right at their own doors, too, as they are distributed throughout the city and are more numerous in the thickly settled districts.

A recreation house is a feature of this plan. Appropriate in design, it was erected merely for its purpose, which is public, indoor recreation. It contains a hall where concerts, exhibitions, and other entertainments are given by the people themselves; also club rooms for both men and women, a neighborhood library, a restaurant where simple food is sold at cost, baths and other conveniences. Yet everything is free except the meal-service. The city pays the bills.

In the space for gardens, 50 or more of the little folk may amuse themselves raising flowers and vegetables for the coveted prizes. In other spots are the open-air gymnasium, room for baseball, football and other sports. At the noon hour the ground is reserved for the children of the public schools nearby, when one may see 1,000 boys and girls disporting themselves, and all in a space 300 feet square. This and the other grounds have had their gates open less than five years, but in that time they have changed from a social experiment to a public necessity.

Baltimore's Public Athletic League is working to the same end, with its 19 playgrounds absolutely free, each provided with up-to-date gymnastic apparatus. Most of the expense of establishing what is one of the best systems of popular play was paid by the man who, years ago, believed American cities needed this feature. So to Robert Garrett belongs the credit of being the founder of Baltimore's resorts of this kind. In Philadelphia they have turned some of the most unsightly corners of the city into places where old and young alike come by the thousands. Some 20 play parks are now being maintained by the Boston board of education in the public parks and school yards; while Pittsburg is spending $2,000,000 in play parks modeled on the plan of the Chicago system. And not only in these, but in many other communities, "Micky" and "Muggsy" and "Pete" do not have to steal car rides or toss pennies in a back alley for sport. They can stretch their muscles and stir up the blood with the kind of sport that appeals to every healthy boy, whether freckled-faced or not, and they are making the most of it. Yes, the middle of the street, the railroad yard, and the back lot have lost much of their popularity as "social centres" since the play parks began to compete with them. Public playgrounds have come to stay.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MEADOWBROOK'S SUCCESS.

Keenest Judges Consider That American Team Has Good Chance of Taking Back Cup.

The London Morning Post devotes a column to a discussion of the astonishing play of the Meadowbrook polo team, the American players, who are to meet the Hurlingham team for the American cup. "Their entry into first-class polo here," says the Post, "has been sensational and many keen judges consider that they possess an excellent chance of taking back the international cup."

Contending that the success of the American players has been largely due to their ponies, the Post says: "With many of our best animals sold to Americans in the past four years, it remains to be seen whether we can muster sufficient to enable the defenders of the American cup to enter upon their arduous task with a reasonable chance of success. That can only be done by patriots loyling their mounts to the players, who with few exceptions are not rich men."

COLLISION BETWEEN THE SCOUT AND TUGBOAT A. W. SMITH.

The Scout, August Belmont's steam yacht, which was run into and put in sinking condition near New York Wednesday by tugboat A. W. Smith, is now in the dry dock. The crew of the Scout made their escape by jumping to the deck of the tugboat. Having landed a passenger, who was said to have been the owner himself, the Scout was on her way to Brooklyn. The tug was coming out of the Erie Basin just as the yacht was passing. There was a misunderstanding of signals, and the bow of the heavier boat crashed into the port side of the yacht, a little forward of amidships. A great hole, about four feet by six feet in size, was made in the side, mostly above the water line, but the pleasure craft began to fill before she was caught by the tug.

The yacht had just been put into commission. Repairs will take several weeks, it is said.

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment.

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chafings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

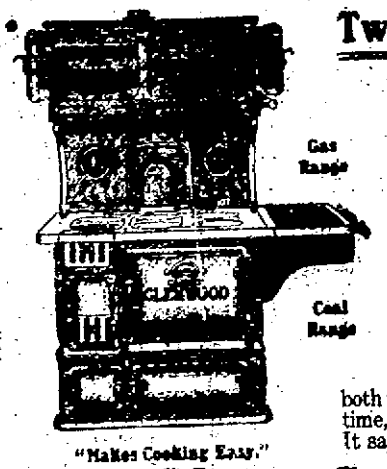

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; South Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, etc.; Russia, Ferrein, Moscow; Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Yokio; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

and public places other than theatres he should have refused to go on the committee on the start. It is ridiculous to pick out one particular line and investigate that, and leave similar places not investigated.

Mr. Kelly held that the board is a fixed board and it is the duty of a sub-committee to do what it is told to do whether it likes it or not.

Mr. Allen moved that all the licenses be granted. As he is a member of the committee, Mr. Cottrell said the committee evidently approved the halls as they are and the licenses were granted.

The following communication was read and received:

"To the Honorable Mayor and the Honorable Board of Aldermen:

"Sirs: In regard to the petition which was offered to your honorable body on April 15, in which the petitioners allege that it will be to the interest of Newport to widen Thames street by the condemnation of a strip of land on the westerly side eight feet wide, and extending from Commercial wharf to a point a hundred feet or more to the southward, therefrom, I respectfully beg leave to say to your honorable body that the three commissioners appointed to interview the abutters called to see me on May 6 and asked me, as agent for the property 305 and 307 Thames street, to express freely my views concerning the proposed widening. I beg leave to confirm what I then said to them and what was afterward exemplified by counsel (Judge Burke) when he called to see me.

"If the city decrees the Thames street widening, the owner of said building 305-307 Thames street will not oppose having the entire building moved the said eight feet to the rear, provided the Newport Coal Company's land in the rear be given for that purpose, the building moved without expense to the owner, and after the moving shall have been completed, the building, sidewalks, plank walk, and everything else appertaining to the premises, left in as good condition as at present; and provided the city shall be responsible for such damages as may have been caused by said moving and widening and that its hall defend any suits that may be brought for damages incident thereto.

"Although there may be a possibility that the value of this property might be increased a little by being set back thus widened, the owner does a street as a taxpayer to the entire project. This objection is based on the fact that since there is no appreciable congestion at that part of Thames street it is believed that the project would be a reckless misuse of public funds; because it is believed that the proposed widening would not add appreciably to the attractiveness of Newport nor help it in the slightest degree either for business purposes or as a summer resort or as a residential city; believing that neither Newport nor any other community, be it rich or poor, ought to condemn land for teh purpose of pleasing merely a few persons; believing furthermore that the two or three persons who circulated the petition are the only ones that are seriously interested in promoting the proposed widening, and believing and hoping most earnestly, that the mayor and aldermen realize that it is quite time that petitions for spending the city's money for the purpose of condemning lands should be discouraged unless such condemnation will be beyond doubt for the good of the community, and especially so at this time when we are sadly in need of money for the purpose of doing everything possible to attract people to Newport. There seems to be no reason to suppose the proposed widening would attract one person to this city

"Very respectfully,
"Richard C. Derby,
"For the owner."

There was a petition against the location of a junk shop on Gurney court, and one that was not opposed to the location. James Drew, one of the protestants, was heard briefly in opposition and Morris Adler and Joe Danish spoke in favor of the license. They are the men who have the license. The matter was referred to Aldermen Albro and Shepley and Inspector Tobin, to report.

Inspector Tobin had John Smith, a junk dealer, up for buying junk from a minor. This happened to be stolen copper and Inspector Tobin said it was on the dealer's book regularly and there was no complaint of concealment. The only thing was that he had bought from a minor and this is illegal, and this metal was stolen. It did look, as the dealer said, like a part of a copper boiler bottom when he found it in the shop.

Mayor Boyle called the dealer's attention to the law and said he had no excuse to offer. Smith said that 50 per cent probably of the business is illegal if this is. He had refused to buy copper which had been a part of a leader, though he had bought this, as it was represented to be part of a copper bottom, and looked so. The boys pick up stuff on the dump and sell it. He had seen many copper bottoms come from the dump. Mothers send boys to dealers to sell various articles of junk.

Mayor Boyle said the dealers know it is illegal to buy from boys and they must try to live up to the law, or stop business. No matter if mothers do send the boys to sell stuff; send them back with word that the stuff can not be bought from boys. He believed the board did not wish to revoke the license on this charge, but to call his attention and that of all dealers to the city law on this subject. Mr. Cottrell said a repetition of the complaint might lead to a revocation of the license.

A petition for a light on a court near the Coddington blocks was referred to Alderman Kelly, to report.

A petition for epairs to Gillis court, to make it safe, was referred to the street commissioner. A deed from the abutters was referred to the City Solicitor.

The Old Colony Street Railroad Company had two petitions for extension of pole lines, to furnish light, one for two poles on Merton road and one for two poles on Houston avenue. Mr. Kelly said there are poles on both streets now; these are for the extension of the line, to supply light to houses which have been wired. It had been the practice to lay such petitions on the table and notify abutters to remonstrate if they wish and that was done in the two cases.

Mr. Mahoney wished an ordinary gas burner on Church street changed to an incandescent. Mr. Allen had one on North Baptist street which he desired changed, and Mr. Shepley thought of one on Hall avenue which ought to be changed. Mr. Kelly suggested that there was not much margin left. Mayor Boyle tried to think of some gas lights in his neighborhood which ought to be changed, but did not come primed. Like the others, Mr. Cottrell, however, was on hand with one at Spring and Arch streets. All were ordered changed.

Mr. Shepley said the floor of the bathhouse at the Point is in need of repair. He was appointed a committee to report thereon.

Mayor Boyle called attention to the need of pushing repairs to the City Hall and to the Broadway and Spring street pavements. Aldermen Kelly and and Shepley were appointed on the City Hall repairs, to report what is needed, and Aldermen Mahoney and Cottrell on the pavement, to consult with the street commissioner.

The board adjourned.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage, and resulted in the following election of officers:

President—Miss Sarah Ward.

Vice President—Mrs. Clayton E. Delamater.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Ellen Smith.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. Isaac Peabody.

Treasurer—Mrs. Ida M. Brown.

Program Committee—Mrs. C. E. Delamater, Mrs. Isaac Peabody, Mrs E. A. Peckham.

The society has been offered the use of a bookcase for its reference books, which will be kept at the church. The collection is known as the Jennie Critchlow Library and books from it can be loaned in a manner somewhat similar to the usual Sunday School library. The organization is soon to begin a scrap book collection, to consist of items of missionary information.

The young men of Berkeley parish gave a whist and dance Thursday evening in the parish house, with a fair attendance. Eight tables were played at whist, with the following award of prizes: First men's, a pair of suspenders, Frank Silvia; first women's, a bow tie, Miss Anna Chase; men's consolation, a paper weight, Joel Peckham; women's consolation, a jigsaw puzzle, Mrs. J. Overton Peckham. A number came in for dancing, which lasted until midnight, with Mr. C. Leroy Grinnell at the piano. Coffee and crackers were served.

Mr. Benjamin Hall has begun the cellar of a cottage house on South Aquidneck avenue. This will make the seventh house erected by Mr. Hall in this neighborhood, five of which are on the east side of Aquidneck avenue.

The fence about the Witherbee schoolhouse is being renewed and repaired and is a decided improvement to the appearance of the school yard. A fair-sized oak tree was set out on the school grounds on Arbor day.

Alterations and improvements are being made to "Seacroft," the summer home of Mrs. T. J. Emery's secretary, on Honeyman hill.

It is proposed to lay down in 1910 two 21,000-ton vessels of an enlarged Danton type. The armament has not yet been decided upon.

MAYER—SHOEBOTHAM.

Wedding Witnessed Only By Intimate Friends and Relatives at Presbyterian Church, New York.

In the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, Thursday afternoon Miss Bessie McDonough Shoebotham, daughter of the late Captain William Baker Shoebotham of London, Ont., was married to Mr. John Mayer of Morristown, N. J. The wedding was witnessed only by relatives and intimate friends, and to those outside the family circles the information of Mr. Mayer's marriage will be the first news that an engagement existed.

Miss Shoebotham, who wore a coat costume of mauve cloth, with a hat to match it, entered the church with her brother, Dr. William Shoebotham. Her only attendant was Miss Louise Butler, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Butler. She wore a costume of gray blue cloth, with a hat to correspond. Mr. Walter Wood, of Morristown, acted as Mr. Mayer's best man. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Philemon Sturgis of Morristown, who was assisted by Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin, pastor of the church.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarkson Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Godfrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. Butler Duncan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Allen Butler and the children of the bridegroom. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Butler. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer will live in Morristown. Mr. Mayer's first wife was a daughter of the late Theodore A. Havemeyer.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Mr. Wilbur C. Wheeler, station agent and postmaster at Bristol Ferry, has resigned the latter position and the office will be discontinued July 1. Mr. Wheeler has conducted the postoffice from its beginning, 26 years ago, in a satisfactory manner and many of its patrons view this close with regret.

The Tiverton Central Baptist Church will hold its annual lawn party July 14.

The Ladies Association of St. Paul's Church met at the guild house Thursday afternoon. About 30 were served with supper by the committee, Mrs. Oliver G. Hicks, Miss Grace Hicks and Mrs. Constant C. Chase.

Mrs. William Alfred Chase's seventy-first birthday was celebrated at the home of her son, Mr. Walter B. Chase, on Bristol Ferry road, rather than at her own home, which is not accessible by trolley. Her sister, Mrs. Phebe Bradford of Newport, 84 years of age, the last of several sisters, and an intimate friend, Mrs. William Burke, also over 70, dined with her and in the afternoon she entertained callers. Among the number were six nieces from Fall River—Mrs. William Jennings, Mrs. William Thomas, Mrs. Clark Chase, Mrs. Edward Mott, Mrs. Frederick Chase and Miss Maitie Mott.

Mrs. Frank Cram of Boston arrived for the summer at her cottage on the East shore, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lucy Thompson.

With the beginning of the freight service on the Island road, the conductors have been given orders to discontinue the carrying of parcels and bundles, which had obtained to a considerable extent, to deliver to persons living along the line. The profit to the conductors had been small; in the majority of cases they had not received anything but it had been a great convenience to the people. One man was so enraged on the first day the order went into effect that he struck the conductor, cutting his face and otherwise injuring him.

Rev. William Dixon, formerly a Baptist preacher and now a member of the Society of Friends, with his family has moved into the house recently vacated by Mr. Alonzo E. Borden and Thursday evening entertained the Friends' Society of Portsmouth.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. John Hargraves of Fall River to the marriage of their daughter Sarah Elizabeth, to Mr. Elihu Root Lyman of Detroit, at the Congregational Church June 1. Among those receiving invitations in this town are Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fish.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB SCHEDULE ACCEPTED.

At the third general meeting of the New York Yacht Club for the year, held Thursday evening in New York, little else than routine business was transacted. MOVEMENT FOR PUBLIC PARKS.

luncheables, sold for just what they cost the city, and there was milk and hot coffee to go with them.

Such was the vision that met the gaze of the children on the opening day in the most extensive and best equipped play places to be found in an American city. It is worth while to tell a little more about them, and why they drew pony thousands from the streets and alleys that had been "playgrounds" in the past.

Scattered here and there are what Chicago calls play-parks, 17 in number, each covering from 10 to 20 acres, with its field-recreation house, outdoor and indoor gymnasiums for both girls and boys, grounds reserved for small children, also tennis courts, base ball diamonds, skating ponds and toboggan slides. The swimming-and-plunge-baths include 10 that are each from 60 to 150 feet in length and of proportionate width, besides the waters of Lake Michigan. At these places are 50,000 bathing suits, free to all who come, and countless dressing rooms and lockers.

How have the people appreciated it? Let the figures of attendance tell the story; in one year 371,000 visits were made to the indoor gymnasiums, there were 2,279,000 recorded visitors to outdoor recreation—no less than 734,000 in a single month—while there were 1,600,000 admissions to the swimming and shower-baths.

The motto of the play-park promoters is "all or none." If you are going to provide such a centre have it big enough so that all can amuse themselves at something—even the toddlers who will kick around all day in the sand pile and never whimper. Of course, mother and grandmother are not going to play basket-ball, or any such strenuous games, but they can "play" in talking with each other. In meeting in the recreation houses, where they can bring their sewing and crocheting, while looking after the babies. They can "play" amid the books and magazines provided for them. They can "play" while listening to lectures and concerts, too. That's the idea!—"something for every one." Even in far-away Los Angeles, the city has gone down into the public purse and has provided play parks—but the city thinks it is worth while. The people have these places right at their own doors, too, as they are distributed throughout the city and are more numerous in the thickly settled districts.

A recreation house is a feature of this plan. Appropriate in design, it was erected merely for its purpose, which is public, indoor recreation. It contains a hall where concerts, exhibitions, and other entertainments are given by the people themselves; also club rooms for both men and women, a neighborhood library, a restaurant where simple food is sold at cost, baths and other conveniences. Yet everything is free except the meal-service. The city pays the bills.

In the space for gardens, 50 or more of the little folk may amuse themselves raising flowers and vegetables for the coveted prizes. In other spots are the open-air gymnasium, room for baseball, football and other sports. At the noon hour the ground is reserved for the children of the public schools nearby, which one may see 1,000 boys and girls disporting themselves, and all in a space 300 feet square. This and the other grounds have had their gates open less than five years, but in that time they have changed from a social experiment to a public necessity.

Baltimore's Public Athletic League is working to the same end, with its 10 playgrounds absolutely free, each provided with up-to-date, gymnastic apparatus. Most of the expense of establishing what is one of the best systems of popular play was paid by the man who, years ago, believed American cities needed this feature. So to Robert Garrett belongs the credit of being the founder of Baltimore's resorts of this kind. In Philadelphia they have turned some of the most unsightly corners of the city into places where old and young alike come by the thousands. Some 30 play parks are now being maintained by the Boston board of education in the public parks and school yards; while Pittsburg is spending $2,000,000 in play parks modeled on the plan of the Chicago system. And not only in these, but in many other communities, "Micky" and "Muggsy" and "Pete" do not have to steal car rides or toss pennies in a back alley for sport. They can stretch their muscles and stir up the blood with the kind of sport that appeals to every healthy boy, whether freckled-faced or not, and they are making the most of it. Yes, the middle of the street, the railroad yard, and the back lot have lost much of their popularity as "social centres" since the play parks began to compete with them. Public playgrounds have come to stay.

THE REAL TEST

Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MEADOWBROOK'S SUCCESS.

Keenest Judges Consider That American Team Has Good Chance of Taking Back Cup.

The London Morning Post devotes a column to a discussion of the astonishing play of the Meadowbrook polo team, the American players, who are to meet the Hurlingham team for the American cup. "Their carry into first-class polo here," says the Post, "has been sensational and many keen judges consider that they possess an excellent chance of taking back the international cup."

"Contending that the success of the American players has been largely due to their ponies, the Post says: "With many of our best animals sold to Americans in the past four years, it remains to be seen whether we can muster sufficient to enable the defenders of the American cup to enter upon their arduous task with a reasonable chance of success. That can only be done by patriots lending their mounts to the players, who with few exceptions are not rich men."

COLLISION BETWEEN THE SCOUT AND TUGBOAT A. W. SMITH.

The Scout, August Belmont's steam yacht, which was run into and put in sinking condition near New York Wednesday by tugboat A. W. Smith, is now in the dry dock. The crew of the Scout made their escape by jumping to the deck of the tugboat. Having landed a passenger, who was said to have been the owner himself, the Scout was on her way to Brooklyn. The tug was coming out of the Erie Basin just as the yacht was passing. There was a misunderstanding of signals, and the bow of the heavier boat crashed into the port side of the yacht, a little forward of amidships. A great hole, about four feet by six feet in size, was made in the side, mostly above the water line, but the pleasure craft began to fill before she was caught by the tug.

The yacht had just been put into commission. Repairs will take several weeks, it is said.

CHILD ATE AN ENTIRE BOX OF CUTICURA

CUTICURA PROVEN PURE SWEET AND HARMLESS

A New York friend of Cuticura writes the following interesting letter:—

"My three year old son and heir, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the stateroom and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment.

"When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence than the above could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant. This feeling is shared by mothers and nurses to such an extent that Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have for many years been unhesitatingly used throughout the civilized world for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children from the hour of birth. And greater still, if possible, is the confidence reposed in Cuticura Remedies for the treatment of torturing and disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp. The suffering which they have thus alleviated among the young and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless agents in the speedy, permanent, safe and economical treatment of infantile and birth humors, eczemas, rashes, irritations, inflammations and chafings, and other itching, scaly and pimply humors when all other remedies suitable for children fail.

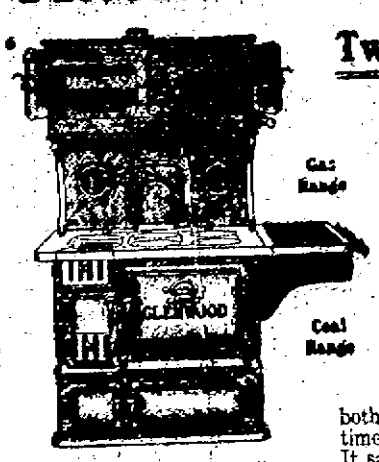

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27, Charterhouse Sq., Paris, 5, Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; South Africa, Lennon, Ltd., Cape Town, Port Elizabeth, etc.; Russia, Persia, Norway, Japan, Maruya, Ltd., Tokio; U. S. A., Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

HALLS AND CHURCHES ESCAPE.

and public places other than theatres he should have refused to go on the committee on the start. It is ridiculous to pick out one particular line and investigate that, and leave similar places not investigated.

Mr. Kelly held that the board is a fixed board and it is the duty of a sub-committee to do what it is told to do, whether it likes it or not.

Mr. Albro moved that all the licenses be granted. As he is a member of the committee, Mr. Cottrell said the committee evidently approved the halls as they are and the licenses were granted.

The following communication was read and received:

"To the Honorable Mayor and the Honorable Board of Aldermen:

"Sirs: In regard to the petition which was offered to your honorable body on April 15, in which the petitioners allege that it will be to the interest of Newport to widen Thames street by the condemnation of a strip of land on the westerly side eight feet wide, and extending from Commercial wharf to a point a hundred feet or more to the southward, therefrom, I respectfully beg leave to say to your Honorable body that the three commissioners appointed to interview the abutters called to see me on May 6 and urged me, as agent for the property 305 and 307 Thames street, to express freely my views concerning the proposed widening. I beg leave to confirm what I then said to them and what was afterward exemplified by counsel (Judge Burke) when he called to see me.

"If the city decrees the Thames street widening, the owner of said building 305-307 Thames street will not choose having the entire building moved the said eight feet to the rear, provided the Newport Coal Company's land in the rear be given for that purpose, the building moved without expense to the owner, and after the moving shall have been completed, the building, sidewalks, plank walk, and everything else appertaining to the premises, left in as good condition as at present; and provided the city shall be responsible for such damages as may have been caused by said moving and widening and that its hall defend any suits that may be brought for damages incident thereto.

"Although there may be a possibility that the value of this property might be increased a little by being on a street thus widened, the owner objects as a taxpayer to the entire project. This objection is based on the fact that since there is no appreciable congestion at that part of Thames street it is believed that the project would be a reckless misuse of public funds; because it is believed that the proposed widening would not add appreciably to the attractiveness of Newport nor help it in the slightest degree either for business purposes or as a summer resort or as a residential city; believing that neither Newport nor any other community, be it rich or poor, ought to condemn land for teh purpose of pleasing merely a few persons; believing further that the two or three persons who circulated the petition are the only ones that are seriously interested in promoting the proposed widening, and believing and hoping most earnestly, that the mayor and aldermen realize that it is quite time that petitions for spending the city's money for the purpose of condemning lands should be discouraged unless such condemnation will be beyond doubt for the good of the community, and especially so at this time when we are sadly in need of money for the purpose of doing everything possible to attract people to Newport. There seems to be no reason to suppose the proposed widening would attract one person to this city.

"Very respectfully,
"Richard C. Derby,
"For the owner."

There was a petition against the location of a junk shop on Gurney court, and one that was not opposed to the location. James Drew, one of the protestants, was heard briefly in opposition and Morris Adler and Joe Danish spoke in favor of the license. They are the men who have the license. The matter was referred to Aldermen Albro and Shepley and Inspector Tobin, to report.

Inspector Tobin had John Smith, a junk dealer, up for buying junk from a minor. This happened to be stolen copper and Inspector Tobin said it was on the dealer's book regularly and there was no complaint of concealment. The only thing was that he had bought from a minor and this is illegal, and this metal was stolen. It did look, as the dealer said, like a part of a copper boiler bottom when he found it in the shop.

Mayor Boyle called the dealer's attention to the law and said he had no excuse to offer. Smith said that 50 per cent probably of the business is illegal if this is. He had refused to buy copper which had been a part of a boiler, though he had bought this, as it was represented to be part of a copper bottom, and looked so. The boys pick up stuff on the dump and sell it. He had seen many copper bottoms come from the dump. Mothers and boys to dealers to sell various articles of junk.

Mayor Boyle said the dealers know it is illegal to buy from boys and they must try to live up to the law, or stop business. No matter if mothers do send the boys to sell stuff; send them back with word that the stuff can not be bought from boys. He believed the board did not wish to revoke the license on this charge, but to call his attention and that of all dealers to the plain law on this subject. Mr. Cottrell said a repetition of the complaint might lead to a revocation of the license.

A petition for a light on a court near the Coddington blocks was referred to Alderman Kelly, to report.

A petition for epairs to Gillis court, to make it safe, was referred to the street commissioner. A deed from the abutters was referred to the City Solicitor.

The Old Colony Street Railroad Company had two petitions for extension of pole lines, to furnish light, one for two poles on Merton road and one for two poles on Houston avenue. Mr. Kelly said there are poles on both streets now; these are for the extension of the line, to supply light to houses which have been wired. It had been the practice to lay such petitions on the table and notify abutters to remonstrate if they wish and that was done in the two cases.

Mr. Mahoney wished an ordinary lamp at the corner on Church street changed to an incandescent. Mr. Albro had one on North Baptist street which he desired changed, and Mr. Shepley thought of one on Hall avenue which ought to be changed. Mr. Kelly suggested that there was not room enough left. Mayor Boyle tried to think of some gas lights in his neighborhood which ought to be changed, but did not come primed. Like the others, Mr. Cottrell, however, was on hand with one at Spring and Ann streets. All were ordered changed.

Mr. Shepley said the floor of the bathhouse at the Point is in need of repair. He was appointed a committee to report thereon.

Mayor Boyle called attention to the need of pushing repairs to the City Hall and to the Broadway and Spring street pavements. Aldermen Kelly and and Shepley were appointed on the City Hall repairs, to report what is needed, and Aldermen Mahoney and Cottrell on the pavement, to consult with the street commissioner.

The board adjourned.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage, and resulted in the following election of officers:

President—Miss Sarah Ward.
Vice President—Mrs. Clayton E. Delamater.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Ellen Smith.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Isaac Peabody.
Treasurer—Mrs. Ida M. Brown.
Program Committee—Mrs. C. E. Delamater, Mrs. Isaac Peabody, Mrs E. A. Peckham.

The society has been offered the use of a bookcase for its reference books, which will be kept at the church. The collection is known as the Jeanie Critchlow Library and books from it can be loaned in a manner somewhat similar to the usual Sunday School library. The organization is soon to begin a scrap book collection, to consist of items of missionary information.

The young men of Berkeley parish gave a whist and dance Thursday evening in the parish house, with a fair attendance. Eight tables were played at whist, with the following award of prizes: First men's, a pair of suspenders, Frank Silvia; first women's, a bow tie, Miss Anna Chase; men's consolation, a paper weight, Joel Peckham; women's consolation, a jigsaw puzzle, Mrs. J. Overton Peckham. A number came in for dancing, which lasted until midnight, with Mr. C. Leroy Grinnell at the piano. Coffee and crackers were served.

Mr. Benjamin Hall has begun the cellar of a cottage house on South Aquidneck avenue. This will make the seventh house erected by Mr. Hall in this neighborhood, five of which are on the east side of Aquidneck avenue.

The fence about the Witherbee schoolhouse is being renewed and repaired and is a decided improvement to the appearance of the school yard. A fair-sized oak tree was set out on the school grounds on Arbor day.

Alterations and improvements are being made to "Seacroft," the summer home of Mrs. T. J. Emery's secretary, on Honeyman hill.

TAFT IN FRIGHTENED CROWD.

Cloudburst at Charlotte Causes Panic But no Disaster.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 20.—President Taft was drenched and had to be surrounded during a cloudburst here today to protect him from injury while a frail canvas shelter threatened momentarily to tumble about his head, but fate did not prevent him from paying a tribute to the Southern soldiers. While a splendid military, floral and industrial parade was passing in review before him, the President, in serious danger, had to hold himself in the background, forbidden to move because of his peril.

The densely packed throng in front of the reviewing stand for the moment was in danger, and made a wild rush for shelter. The President's box was a goal for many and the chief executive had to be surrounded to keep him from the sudden crush.

A cloudburst breaking over the city during the afternoon, just as the parade was passing in review before the chief executive, promised serious consequences for a time. It set the densely packed throng in front of the reviewing stand into a panic and there was a wild rush for shelter.

In the midst of the storm a passing industrial float became entangled in a live electric wire and tore it from its support, the slender thread of copper sagging almost to the heads of the scrambling crowd below.

While the confusion was at its height, and to add to the tense situation, there was a blinding flash of flame and a loud report not 50 yards from where the President stood. It developed later that a quantity of black powder, which was to have been used for saluting purposes, had been prematurely ignited. No one was injured either in the explosion or in the crush about the stand.

Among the first to pay her respects to the President was Mrs. "Stonewall" Jackson. When she had met Mr. Taft earlier in the day she had earnestly exclaimed: "I am indeed delighted to know the harmonizer of all our hearts."

The parade, which was interrupted near its close by the sudden storm, was one of the most pretentious ever undertaken in the South. Beautiful floats, representing weeks of labor, were transformed in a minute to faded, bedraggled masses. On many of the floats rode women and little children in flimsy summer frocks. They were drenched before they could flee to shelter.

President Taft spoke twice during the day. The storm interfered with the program for his addressing the people from the reviewing stand, and he spoke first in the Charlotte Auditorium at 4:30 p. m. The President was then driven two miles out of the city and spoke to the colored students of Biddle University.

There was a public reception to the President tonight, and he left on a late train for Washington, where he is due to arrive shortly before noon tomorrow. The two days of constant going in the heat and dust on the Petersburg battlefields and the drenching downpour at Charlotte today were quite trying on the President. He was perceptibly hoarse today.

FILIPINOS DEMAND FREEDOM.

General Assembly Renews Its Claim of Full Independence.

MANILA, May 20.—The Filipinos again today put in concrete form their demand for political independence. With but slight variation from its action when the session of 1908 finally adjourned, the Philippine General Assembly, in the closing hour of its session tonight, adopted the second resolution declaring in favor of the independence of the islands.

The last formalities with the Philippines commission had been exchanged and the statutory hour of adjournment had passed when the question was presented by Speaker Osmena. He said the policy of the Assembly was to work in harmony with and support the government in all measures calculated to advance the interests of the Filipinos. Nevertheless, the members had not abandoned their original aspiration for independence, and therefore he moved that the Filipino delegates to the Congress of the United States be instructed to present the question to that body whenever an opportunity was offered.

The members of the Progresista, or minority party, asked permission to abstain from voting, which was granted.

All the Nationalists then voted in favor of the resolution.

The closing days of the sessions were marked by great harmony between the Assembly and commission, and practically all the important legislation desired by the government was enacted. Among the most important measures passed were the railway guaranty bill, which insures the construction of a railway to Iligo and the extension of the lines in central Luzon to the extreme southern part of the island, practically making a trunk line across Luzon from north to south, and a bankruptcy act of general application.

The total amount of the budget passed is 16,500,000 pesos.

MAURETANIA CLIPS 13 MINUTES.

Makes Record of 25.62 Knots on Her Westward Voyage.

NEW YORK, May 21.—New westbound records were established by Cunard steamer Mauretania, which arrived in quarantine from Liverpool and Queenstown at 11:10 o'clock tonight. The steamer, according to her commander, Captain Pritchard, cut 13 minutes from her best previous record and made an average hourly speed of 25.62 knots, as against her former record of 25.55. Captain Pritchard reported that the Mauretania covered the course between Daunt's Rock and Ambrose Channel Lightship in four days, 4 hours and 23 minutes, as against her previous record of four days, 11 hours and six minutes on February 16.

SAGWA TRIAL FREE!

Many People Going to Hall & Lyon Co's Drug Store.

The recently announced Kickapoo theory of "helping the stomach to cure itself," and the explanation of the Kickapoo representative at Hall & Lyon Co.'s Drug Store as to why so many so-called stomach remedies fail, have made a deep impression on many people about town. You also hear little groups of people in restaurants and at soda fountains and on the cars discussing the other Kickapoo theory as to whether the right principle of treating the stomach is to take a medicine before meals or after meals.

Judging from the number of people who have taken home free trial bottles of Kickapoo Sagwa and tested its effect upon themselves, by taking the prescribed dose before each meal, it is easy to see that the "before meal" contingent has the better of the argument.

Whether you have a weak stomach or not, a little about the physiology of the stomach will not hurt you. Here it is: Digestion in the stomach is performed in the following way: The inside of the stomach is lined with little glands, which secrete digestive juices. When all of the food in the stomach has been digested, and out of the stomach several hours, then these digestive glands secrete more digestive juice and pour into the stomach, and you again begin to feel hungry. That is what gives you an appetite. When you feel that way you can eat a big meal and digest it all.

But if these glands are sick, weak, or diseased, they don't secrete enough of these digestive juices, and what they do secrete is not of the right quality. Then, when the time comes around for the next meal, you eat whether you are hungry or not. But the digestive juices are not in the stomach waiting for the food and therefore the food lies "like a log" in the stomach. It cannot lie there very long without fermenting and generating gas and poisons. It must be digested or it is going to cause pain and trouble.

One reason why it causes pain is that to assist in digestion the muscles, which run around the stomach, very much the way a boy winds a string around a yarn ball, involuntarily contract, first one way, then another, so that they have the same effect upon food in the stomach that your hands have upon a lemon when you turn it around and around and squeeze it on different sides to make it soft. This action of the stomach is perfectly natural and greatly assists in digestion, if the digestive juices have gone into your stomach in advance, but if the digestive juices are not there, then when your stomach muscles contract, they squeeze these hard portions of undigested food and pain results. Hence many people with weak stomachs have great distress, and suffering after meals.

The Kickapoo theory of "helping Nature to help herself" is proven to be absolutely right in principle by the results accomplished by Kickapoo Sagwa. Make the experiment yourself. Go and get a trial bottle of Sagwa. Take it home and sip the prescribed dose before each meal for the next three or four meals. Sagwa tastes nice; you won't object to it, even if your stomach after you have taken it, and you will after you have taken it, and you will notice an appetite coming. You will soon be hungry for your meal. That is because Sagwa has acted upon the digestive glands in the stomach, causing them to secrete more digestive juices and of a better quality, and is also causing those digestive juices to flow into the stomach.

That is all that is needed. You don't need to take a "digestive" after meals. That gives you the habit of relying on it as a "crutch." Throw away this mental and physical crutch and let Sagwa help Nature to help herself. You will comprehend the importance of this statement and the correctness of the Kickapoo theory if you will just make the trial. We don't care how skeptical you are. It makes no difference whether at the beginning you "believe" in Sagwa or not. There is no "mental healing" about Sagwa. It is a simple vegetable medicine which acts in the right physiological principle upon the stomach.

The stomach is the source of nearly all the diseases of the body. Take, for example, Headaches. The great pneumo-gastric nerve, one of the most important nerves of the whole body, goes right from the back of the head, or base of the brain, directly to the stomach. That is why, if you have indigestion, it so often gives you a sick headache. Most sick headaches are due to indigestion and stomach disorders. Let Sagwa, taken before each meal, prepare the digestive organs to do their own work in a healthy, natural way, and in most cases the usual terrible "digestive" headache will not follow.

Take another example, Rheumatism: What is rheumatism? You hear people say that rheumatism is a blood disease. Certainly it is. But how? Let us try to make it easily understood. When food in your stomach is not digested it ferments. When it ferments it generates poisons and gases. Those poisons pass on into the intestines and upset digestion there, causing sleeplessness, insomnia, constipation, "biliousness," etc. They pass on into the liver, which, as you know, prepares the food, after its earlier stages of digestion, for entry into the blood. These poisons go from the liver into the blood. They poison the blood. As these poisons come to the kidneys, which are supposed to purify the blood, they derange and weaken the kidneys. Then the doctors call it "Uric Acid," and there is a popular conception everywhere that Uric Acid causes rheumatism. It does; but if you will go back to the source of the trouble and let Sagwa correct the digestive disorders in the stomach, which in turn will correct the digestive disorders in the intestines and liver, then there will be no more Uric Acid generated and poured into the blood, and no more Uric Acid will come from the kidneys, coddle your stomach with "After-dinner" digestives. Don't always carry your baby in your arms. Put him down and let him walk and get strong. Help him to be strong. In the same way help your stomach to be strong. Help it in a natural way. Help Nature to help herself. Go to the Kickapoo representative now at Hall & Lyon Co.'s Drug Store and get a free trial bottle of Sagwa. Even this trial bottle will give you a hint of what Sagwa can do for you. We want you to take the trial bottle first. We do not want you to start in with Sagwa and give it an incomplete test. We want you to take the trial first, and use it in the right way before meals. Don't take it after meals nor during meals. Take it before meals. Don't sit down to eat immediately after you take it. Wait a few minutes. Some people will have to wait a little longer than others; but wait until you begin to feel hungry before you start eating. Then when you are convinced that Sagwa is helping your indigestion, or gas in the stomach, or sourness, or "catarrh" of the stomach; or whatever other ailment you have and know enough about the effects of Sagwa to be willing to give it a fair, thorough trial, go to your druggist and buy a regular bottle. That bottle will be sold to you under an absolute guarantee to be satisfactory or money refunded.

We know what we are doing. We know that in the scores of New England cities where we have exhibited the Indian curiosities and the Indian Chief, that the sale of Sagwa has always been largest in those cities where the most Sagwa trial bottles have been given away. That proves that the people who get these free trial bottles are convinced that Sagwa will help them and that Sagwa is a simple vegetable medicine which acts in the right principle in curing all kinds of stomach and liver diseases.

We don't want your money unless you are helped by Sagwa. We've got enough to be happy without yours. But if you have stomach trouble in any of its many complicated forms—and there are very few people who realize how many of the common diseases really come from disordered digestion in the stomach—then you are very liable to be like the many other New Englanders who have accepted the free trial bottles of Sagwa and later bought the regular size of Sagwa. And been so changed in health that they have written us letters that would make any man proud to be in a business that was giving such satisfaction to its customers.

The Kickapoo representative will be at Hall & Lyon Co.'s Drug Store for a few days longer. You had better go immediately if you want a free trial bottle of Sagwa.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR H. H. ROGERS.

will lie in state in the beautiful gothic church, which Mr. Rogers presented to the Unitarian society as a memorial to his mother. From 10 to 11 a. m. the school children, accompanied by their teachers, will file through the church to take one last look upon the features of the man who had provided them with two splendid school buildings, and who had afforded them educational facilities far beyond the town's own resources would permit.

From 11 o'clock until 1 o'clock the residents of the town will be given an opportunity to gaze upon Mr. Rogers's face. While the body is lying in state it will be attended by a guard of honor composed of members of George H. Taber Lodge of Masons, to whom Mr. Rogers had given a splendid Masonic hall, and members of Star in the East Lodge of New Bedford, with which the financier had been actively connected for many years.

All business in the town will be suspended between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., out of respect to Mr. Rogers's memory.

At 2 p. m. the favorite hymns of Mr. Rogers will be played on the chimes of the memorial church. Among the hymns on the program are "Lead Kindly Light," "Nearer My God to Thee", "Abide with Me", "St. Ann", "Duke Street", "St. Sylvester" and "Eternity".

The funeral services, which will be attended only by relatives and friends, will be held in the church at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer, venerable pastor emeritus of Mr. Rogers's New York church, the Church of the Messiah, will conduct the services, and will be assisted by Rev. Frank L. Phalen, pastor of the memorial church.

The honorary pall bearers at the services here will be Walter P. Winsor, George H. Tripp, Thomas A. Tripp, Job C. Tripp, Joseph K. Nye, John I. Bryant and Frank M. Marsh, all of Fairhaven, and Zephaniah W. Pease and Dr. C. A. Pratt of New Bedford.

The interment will be in the Greek mausoleum at Riverside cemetery this town, erected by Mr. Rogers several years ago, in which rest the bodies of his mother and his daughter, Millicent. As the cortege passes through Cushman park, another of Mr. Rogers's gifts to the town, the school children will form a lane through which the procession passes, but there will be no demonstration.

QUIET IN FISH CIRCLES.

Shipments of Mackerel and Scup Small in Comparison with Those of Friday.

Things look quiet at Long wharf today, though 1,600 mackerel arrived and about 200 barrels of scup and mixed fish came in for shipment. It was in strong contrast to Friday. All told, the mackerel landed since Friday morning totalled 135,275. In addition to the seiners reported the Monarch had 14,000, the Muriel 6,000, the Conqueror 2,000, the Constellation 4,000 and the George Parker 2,000. The netters also brought in some fish. The Pearl was high line, with 2,000, as much as one of the big seiners brought in. Other netters in were the Jessie 500, Lewis Warren 225, Vesta 700, Gracie Smith 600, Helena 100, Uncle Sam 150, Alice 300, Clara T. 300, Dorcas 600, Olive May 900 and Mollie 700.

Today the seiners and netters are all in port. The seiners went out, but a stiff easterly wind sent them back to the harbor, it being unfit to fish and more comfortable in port than outside.

More than 25,000 fish were sent to the cold storage plant where they were placed in cold storage and will be ready for shipment in good condition whenever needed.

THE MONGOLIAN CLEARS HERSELF.

progress south through the ice and heading in the direction of Bay Bulls, 18 miles away, where there is a chance to make harbor.

It was the heavy easterly swell which set in last night, that broke up the ice pack and favored the Mongolian to shake herself free after being completely helpless for 36 hours.

The heaving and grinding began about dark and all night there was constant commotion in the great field, while the pressure on the steamer was greater than ever before.

Dawn revealed open water within a few miles of the steamer, and a little later a lead opened out through which the Mongolian steamed to comparative safety. For the first hour or two it was slow work, as the ice was still heavy and continually driving in on the steamer. On getting farther off shore the floes opened out and at 8 a. m. with fairly clear water the Mongolian swung around and headed down the coast and around Cape Spear in the direction of Bay Bulls. It was thought at first the Mongolian might try to run into Petty harbor, five miles south, but her captain decided to keep on to the more sheltered harbor of Bay Bulls, where it is expected the Mongolian will lie until the mouth of this harbor is cleared of ice.

The weather today continued favorable, the wind holding light from the north with a cloudy sky. The thermometer last night fell to freezing, but rose to 38 at 7 a. m.

MEANS FREE GOVERNMENT.

Corner-stone of Philippine Capitol Laid with Impressive Ceremonies.

MANILA, May 21.—The corner-stone of the Philippine capitol building was laid with impressive ceremonies today, Vice Governor General W. Cameron Forbes and Senor Osmena, president of the assembly, jointly officiating.

President Osmena and Assemblyman Pedro Esterno said that in the building of the Capitol, they saw the placing of the corner-stone in the fabric of Philippine independence. They expressed the belief that the structure in years to come would be the seat of a free government for the Filipinos. Mr. Forbes said that independence was not a thing to be lightly spoken of, but a goal to be attained by work and by proving the worth of the people was such as would warrant the granting of self-government.

PEAT AS FUEL.

Colonel John Jacob Astor Devises a Machine to Utilize Vast Deposits for Power.

Colonel John Jacob Astor, who has appeared frequently on the Patent Office records as an inventor of practical devices, has applied for a patent for an invention which scientists and engineers expect will prove a means for successfully utilizing the vast deposits of peat found in the United States and other parts of the world. Peat has been used with fair success as a fuel, but because of the amount of water contained in it a long season of drying is necessary before it can be burned. Peat constitutes a fairly serviceable fertilizer, but because of the large amount of tannin, organic acids, iron salts and gases which it contains it is necessary to cure it by long exposure to the atmosphere before it can be used. The tannin and organic acids tend to retard rather than suport vegetation.

Efforts to manufacture producer gas from peat have been unsuccessful in this country, although, because it contains water and solid portions which are almost entirely carbonaceous, it is better adapted to the manufacture of producer gas in some respects than is bituminous coal. Ordinary peat is of a very porous texture and a great deal of gas is contained in its fibres. It has such poor heat conducing qualities that, when heated in a producer, a portion of the peat will be completely burned without heating other portions to any material extent.

The vibratory disintegrator which has been invented by Colonel Astor will, it is believed, solve the problem of the commercial manufacture of producer gas from peat. The disintegrator utilizes the expansive force of the air and gases within the porous peat to disrupt and disintegrate the latter, and to permit it to be thoroughly and uniformly heated. From the fact that farmers can obtain peat in many sections of the country for the mere trouble of digging it, it is evident that producer gas can be manufactured at a very low cost if the invention is practical. Farmers might then be able to drive their machinery by gas engines and to heat and illuminate their homes with gas. A valuable fertilizer for impoverished soil could also be obtained from the peat.

The vibratory disintegrator will be given a practical test in a peat-fuel producer-gas plant, which Colonel Astor is now erecting at his country place at Rhinecliff on the Hudson. The plant will run a stone crusher and is to be of 150 horse-power. The patent application is now pending, and if it is allowed Colonel Astor intends to present it to the public in the hope that it may prove of general use. He did the same thing with his invention of an efficient marine turbine. His other inventions include a bicycle brake and a pneumatic road improver.

In the peat invention the gas generated may be supplied to an ordinary internal combustion engine, the engine muffler being placed inside the gas producer. The sides of the muffler are thin, so as to permit them to be expanded and contracted with variations in the pressure within the muffler. One end is connected with the exhaust pipe. The gas escaping from the engine cylinder after each explosion distends the muffler, and escaping from the muffler draws in the latter's sides. As a result of these vibrations the gore in the peat are disrupted and the peat is disintegrated.

The inventor recommends a slow speed engine, so that the successive charges of exhaust gas will have time to produce the desired expansion in the muffler. The engine which he will use in his test will be air cooled.

DR. BARKLEY ELECTED.

Made Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

DENVER, Col., May 21.—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church met at 9 o'clock this morning, and before adjourning at noon the organization for the actual business of the church executive body was well under way.

Dr. James M. Barkley of Detroit was elected moderator late Thursday receiving 503 votes, against 393 votes for Dr. Edgar P. Hill of Chicago. The election of Dr. Barkley came as a surprise, in view of the great strength made by the nominators of Dr. William L. McEwan, of Pittsburg. Three ballots were taken. Dr. McEwan withdrew after the second, thus avoiding a long drawn out contest. The election was made unanimous.

When the assembly was called to order, Dr. Samuel D. McCormick, chancellor of the University of Pittsburg, nominated Dr. McEwan. The nominating speech of Rev. John A. Vance, of Chicago, presenting the name of Dr. Hill, was so replete with humorous thrusts at Pennsylvania for asking a moderators every other year, that Dr. Hill was loudly cheered also. Rev. John McDowell, of Newark, N. J., nominated Dr. Barkley.

The first ballot resulted in a deadlock, which threatened to become permanent, as each candidate had received less than three hundred votes. On the second ballot Dr. McEwan's strength fell away, and it became evident that the East as well as the West was lending its support to the two other candidates.

At this juncture Dr. McEwan said that in the interests of harmony and in order that the business of the assembly might proceed with greater despatch, he would withdraw. On the next ballot Dr. McEwan's strength went to Dr. Barkley, and he received far more than the number of votes necessary for him.

Dr. William Henry Roberts of Philadelphia was today re-elected state clerk, a position he has held for 26 years, and Judge Charles S. Holt of Chicago was appointed vice moderator.

The four hundredth anniversary of the birth of John Calvin was celebrated today.

Aside from the regular assembly sessions, the business activities of the day were taken up in the preparation of the committee's report for presentation to the assembly. Much interest attaches to the report of the committee on Sabbath observance because of the activity of the church societies seeking the closing of Sunday saloons and places of amusement.

At the second day's session of the Woman's Board of Home Missions, the report of Mrs. Ella A. Boyle, secretary of the board, was submitted. Addresses were made by missionaries to the Indians and foreign settlements.

BUSY IN MONROVIA.

Members of American Liberian Commission Begin Work.

MONROVIA, Liberia, May 13, via Sierre Leone, May 21.—The members of the American Liberian Commission, R. P. Falkner, E. J. Scott and Dr. George Sale, who arrived at Monrovia May 8, on board scout cruiser Chester, have been busy since their arrival with the preliminary to their investigation into conditions in the Liberian republic. They are all in excellent health, but inclined to complain of the attentions shown them on every hand, as the many invitations interfer with their work.

Last Sunday the commissioners attended the Methodist Church and heard Bishop Scott preach. They were much impressed with the reverence of the congregation and the dignity of the service. Sunday evening the visitors and a number of distinguished guests were entertained at an informal dinner by Ernest Lyon, the American minister resident and consul general. Speaking of Monrovia, one of the commissioners described it as "a southern city with a Puritanical atmosphere."

May 10, Commander Henry H. Wilson of the Chester, and the members of the commission, were cordially received by President Barclay and the members of the cabinet. The government has promised its hearty co-operation in the investigation and the legislature will be convened in session to assist in the work. The night of the tenth there was an elaborate and formal dinner at the American legation.

May 12 the president of the republic gave a reception in honor of the American visitors, all the leading men of Liberia being present. The commissioners, who had been living on board the Chester, have taken up their residence in Monrovia. This was done to avoid the necessity of going back and forth through the dangerous surf. The enthusiasm over the commission continues everywhere and the European residents are much interested in the investigation. Scout cruiser Birmingham came into port May 13. She accompanied the Chester across the Atlantic, but was delayed several days at Cape Verde Island making repairs to her boilers. She is now in good condition.

ENGLISH NOVELIST CREMATED.

Ashes of George Meredith to be Interred in Dorking.

LONDON, May 21.—The body of George Meredith, the English novelist, who died May 18, was cremated at Dorking today in the presence of a few members of his family. There was no religious service. The ashes were deposited in a black urn and taken back to Mr. Meredith's house in Dorking for interment tomorrow.

No official explanation yet has been made of the refusal to permit the placing of Mr. Meredith's ashes in Westminster Abbey, but is is understood the dean of Westminster considers that he Victorian authors already are sufficiently represented there.

10—There was a moderate opening demand for stocks and its effect in increasing prices was limited generally to small fractions. The feature of the market was the opening sale of 2,000 shares of United States Steel at a price varying from 59¾ to 59⅞, compared with 59⅞ last night. National Railways of Mexico first preferred rose 1, and New York Central ¾. Denver and Rio Grande declined ⅝.

11—A long interval of dullness, in which prices were without essential change, was succeeded by a demonstration of strength in which all of the well known stocks participated. Buying of the Harrimans, Reading and the United States Steel stocks encouraged purchases all through the list. The advance halted before the end of the hour, when small reactions were followed by renewed dullness.

NOON—United States Steel reached 60⅜, and the persistent absorption of that stock was an influence in the quiet strength of the whole list. Bonds were firm. Money on call steady at 2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3½ to 4 per cent.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT PLANS.

General Sackett and Clerks Busy Arranging Matters For National Guard's Yearly Tour.

Adjutant General Frederic M. Sackett and his clerks have been busy for several days arranging matters for the annual tour of duty of the National Guard. The arrangements are made somewhat more difficult than usual, owing to the passage of the new militia law, under which the National Guard of the state is now working. The order for the annual tour of duty has been issued from the United States army headquarters as well as from the office of Adjutant General Sackett. General Sackett and Quartermaster General W. Howard Wallis-er bear the heaviest part of the burden of preparing for the encampment.

As in past years, there will be a Governor's day and Governor Pothier, with the members of his staff, will visit the troops. Under the new militia law the governor's staff has been reduced in size and the number accompanying him to camp will not be as large as in past years. Under the new law the government's staff consists of four brigadier generals and six aides-de-camp, who bear the rank and title of colonel. Brigadier General Sackett will arrange with Governor Pothier within the next few days the details concerning the tour of duty and the elder executive's visit to the troops.

AT THE TEACHERS' UNION.

Paper on "The Ethical Importance of the Bible" Read by Rev. Joseph Cooper.

At the weekly meeting of the Graded Union for Sunday School Teachers Thursday afternoon the devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Alice Whitman, who read Galatians V and offered prayer. The paper of the afternoon, on "The Ethical Importance of the Bible," was read by Rev. Joseph Cooper.

In opening Mr. Cooper spoke of the need of ethical teaching today in view of the graft and spirit of revenge in public life and the lack of a conscientious moral atmosphere in both public and private life. We are living under a moral law infinitely holy and just, which works in this life and in the life to come. The moral order is attested by man's moral nature which in the form of conscience must be educated by teachers and parents, by the religions of the race, all of which recognize the moral order, and by the proclamation in the Bible of the moral order.

All men are responsible to God as the standard of moral conduct and as the court of final appeal. The great work of the Sunday School teachers today is to give their pupils a clear idea of God. Mr. Cooper then considered the moral law as progressive in the Bible, religion as the basis of morality, the moral law as condemning every possible sin and the punishment that will follow wrongdoing and the reward which will follow good acts.

In the Decalogue the Bible gives us the highest ethical law we know anything about and today the Christian moral order is becoming the order of the world. Japan is coming to realize that the Bible is the best text book of morals for the youth of Japan.

The lesson, "The Council at Jerusalem," Acts XV:1-35, was taught by Mr. William B. Franklin as to a class of adults. At the close of the lesson there was a general discussion.

COMMERCIAL WHARF CHANGES.

Coal Company's Lease of North Side Will Interfere With the General and Jamestown Ferry.

The coming summer will see changes in the use of Commercial wharf. When the Newport Coal Company extended its dock it cut out the south side of the wharf as an available place for the landing of excursion steamers, and in consequence these were forced last year to tie up two and three deep at the end of the wharf, to the great inconvenience of the boats and the passengers. The company has now taken a lease of the wharf, in order to have the use of the north side also, and while on ordinary occasions it is not proposed to disturb steamer General in docking, on big days, such as Sundays, it is proposed that she shall move farther up the dock than her usual berth, to make room for the excursion boats. It is not expected that this will interfere with the steamer on her regular trips, but as after July 1 she will not carry the mail and her time for lying at the wharf will be longer than in previous years, she will probably haul to the eastward quite frequently for her waiting time.

This will make a difference to the summer ferry to Jamestown, for the entrance to the slip of that line will be so narrowed by the hauling back of the General that it is questionable if it can be used with regularity. It is already reported that the ferry company is seeking a landing farther up town.

JUNK COLLECTOR ESCAPES CONVICTION.

In the district court this morning Joe Dannin, one of the Junk Trust, was tried on a charge of not displaying his badge while carrying on the work of junk collecting. Joe had the badge on, but did not like to get it wet, and so had it under his overcoat. There was no question but that he did not display his badge, but he claimed he had bought the junk the day before and simply called to collect it the day he was caught. This was rather a fine distinction, but he escaped. Incidentally the language of the city ordinance was severely criticised by the court and City Solicitor Levy agreed that the section criticised needs revision to make it say what it was intended to say.

"THE DEESTRICK SKULE."

Performance Given Recently at First Baptist Church Repeated at Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium.

There was a large attendance at the performance of "The Deestrick Skule" in the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium Thursday evening. The entertainment was given by Companies G and H of the Woman's Auxiliary, the cast being practically the same which recently gave the sketch at the First Baptist Church.

All were capital in make-up and acting, Mr. Albert C. Young as Samuel Randall the dunce, Mr. Hayden and Miss Grace Wood as Hezekiah Honeysuckle and Hannah Maria Honeysuckle, twins; Miss Alice Petza as Samantha Hapgood. Miss Elizabeth Wood as Temperance Hartshorn and Soren Tollefson as Mike O'Flynn being particularly good.

Mr. John R. Austin was an acceptable teacher and other parts were taken by Mr. Thomas B. Tanner, Mrs. John Holt, Messrs. Russel Peckham, Charles Adams, Berwick Laird, Arthur Tollefson, Austin Peckham, Benjamin Peckham and Theodore Tollefson and Misses Elsie Petzka, Gertrude Gladding, Ruth Hassard, Annie Westall, Daisy Gleason, Cora Hathaway, Irene King, Ardelia Peckham and Jessie Hunnnell.

Several amusing local hits were given.

Before the performance and between the sessions of the "skule" home-made candy was sold by women in Colonial costume.

PRINCE DE BEARN LOSES HIS SUIT.

Prince de Bearn has lost his suit to recover absolute possession of the estate of his wife, valued at $300,000. The court at Baltimore holds that no ulterior motive was proved in the action taken by the trustees, Ross R. Winans, the prince's father-in-law, and General F. C. Latrobe, as they had nothing to lose or gain by the distribution of the estate, and also as the prince was apparently satisfied at the time the arrangement was made and did not demur. It is likely that the case will be taken to the court of appeals.

ASLEEP ON THE BASES.

Rogers Beaten, Though Hitting and Fielding Well.

Escapes Shut-Out in the Last Inning—Games in the Grammar League.

Thursday Rogers lost another fast game, because the boys fell asleep on the bases. They out-hit, and fielded as well as their opponents, yet were unable to send enough men around the bases to win. There was a possibility of scoring in the first inning. If there had been competent coachers on the lines. Again, in the last inning with one out and three on bases, an easy grounder was hit to pitcher. Every man started, but turned about around and held his base, while La Salle forced the runners out at home and first crawling out of a bad hole handily.

Hanlon, for La Salle, while at times he was hit freely, managed to go through every inning without a score, because of his excellent support, until the ninth, when the entire visiting team went in the air. Underwood, except for the second and sixth, pitched a steady game, and with a little better support might have been able to pull through the second. He gave La Salle no better opportunities than Hanlon did Rogers, but the Providence boys made better use of them.

There were four double plays, two by each team. The first came in the first inning and pulled Rogers out of a bad hole. Durgin hit one to pitcher, who threw the runner out at first, and Leddy sent the ball across to Freeman before J. McGuire was on the bag. In the fourth Ecroyd caught Phasse's hat one, and doubled to second. In the next inning Leddy hit a long one to the left fielder, who caught Ebbs off second. The last double was the one which brought La Salle out of difficulty in the ninth.

La Salle began scoring in the second. McOsker hit one to right, and Underwood hit Hagerty. Both were advanced by a passed ball. Phasse fanned and Gendreau forced, but Freeman fumbled the ball and McOsker made home and Hagerty third. McGuire died to pitcher. It looked as if there was to be no more scoring, but a wild pitch let in Hagerty and La Salle was two in the lead. Underwood fanned the next batsman.

In the sixth, by a timely hit, La Salle put another man around the circuit. Noon struck out. Freeman let McOsker's grounder go through him and the runner stole second. Hagerty was out on an easy grounder, but Phasse hit a beauty to right, scoring McOsker. Phassee was caught off third.

In the eighth one more run was forthcoming. J. McGuire started it with a two-bagger. Durgin flied to Leddy, and Noon hit to short and was thrown out at first. Leddy's error let J. McGuire around the bases with another run, a bad throw being the very thing needed to score him. McOsker struck out.

Rogers gave the visitors rather a scare in the ninth. Underwood and Buchanan made hits. Freeman's grounder went through short stop, and there were three on bases. Ecroyd's hit brought in Underwood, and the bases were still full and one out. Ebbs struck out, but Fludder hit a grounder which was badly handled, and Buchanan scored. With still three on bases, Leddy hit an easy grounder to pitcher. All the Rogers men clung to the bags and La Salle made an easy double at home and first. The line-up and summary:
